SECOND DAY IN A ROW

U.S. Planes Hit Hanoi Hard

(c) N.Y. Times News Service HANOI, North Vietnam (Agence France-Presse)—United States warplanes bombed the center of Hanoi yesterday and the North Vietnamese authorities said "numerous lives" had been lost. The bombs flattened a number of houses and shops in the south-central part of the capital, trapping a number of people. Rescue workers, firemen and crane crews worked furiously to free them from the smoking rubble. Newsmen were not allowed into the bombed area, but watched from nearby.

Rescue teams lifted haggard-eyed men and women covered with white dust out of the ruins of buildings on three parallel streets in the Haiba quarter. A North Vietnamese spokesman said the structures destroyed included food shops, a pharmacy and offices of the National Education Authority, in addition to homes.

Firemen were still hosing down fuming rubble at mid-morning, two hours after the alert. Shattered window panes and doors torn from their hinges could be seen in quarters outside the disaster area. A correspondent heard at least two projectiles explode inside the city as the 35-minute alert began at 7:15 a.m.

Civilian casualties were caused in a central area near the Chohom market by the two projectiles, bombs, rockets or anti-aircraft shells that fell on Hue street, destroying several houses and several shops.

Barriers were put up around the area and policemen kept urging onlookers to move along. Although low clouds over the center of the city obscured all but two high, er-bombers, the intensity of the roar left no doubt that a large raiding force was involved, apparently heading north.

Anti-aircraft batteries fired briefly. The heavy raids were the second in as many days in the Hanoi area.

4 Die in Train-Auto Crash

CAMBRIDGE SPRINGS, Pa. (AP) A freight train knifed into an auto at a grade crossing here last night, killing four youths.

The westbound Erie-Lackawanna freight flattened the auto with the youngsters inside and carried it 250 feet before coming to a stop.

The bodies of two girls and two boys were taken to funeral homes in this Crawford County community.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Mongera of Cambridge Springs drove past the wreckage and recognized the demolished auto as belonging to their son's friend.

The frantic parents went to a funeral home where they found the body of their son, Delbert, 16, a passenger in the car.

A second youth was identified as Lonnie Lane, 16, of Cambridge Springs.

The identities of the girls were not immediately known.

The train remained on the tracks and went onto Meadville.

Red Guards Beat British and Burn Offices in Peking

(c) N.Y. Times News Service PEKING (By Agence France-Presse)—Red Guards invaded the British diplomatic compound here Monday night, hurled gasoline cans into the buildings and set them afire, destroying the chancery and damaging the home of Britain's charge d'affaires.

The charge d'affaires, Donald C. Hopson, and a number of other Britons were beaten by the Red Guards, who were angered by Hopson's rejection of a Chinese ultimatum. It had demanded that Britain lift an order closing three leftist newspapers in Hong Kong.

Most of the British diplomats and their families took refuge in the compound during the last few days as the dispute over Hong Kong intensified.

At dawn yesterday, members of the British diplomatic community left the compound to seek haven with friends or in other foreign embassies.

All were pale and disheveled. Some were covered with blood. Hopson, Britain's highest ranking diplomat in China, wore a bandage on his head and a bloodstained coat.

All were reported to be safe, however.

The fleeing Britons agreed that the policemen and soldiers who surrounded the British compound had tried to protect them from the Red Guards.

Some of the policemen were wounded trying to stem the fury of the crowd, the British said.

The Red Guards dragged furniture from the chancery and other compound buildings, set it afire and marched around the flames in what observers described as an "Indian war dance."

Earlier in the day, members of the Chinese staff employed by the mission read the ultimatum to Hopson on the lawn of the British compound.

Hopson rejected the ultimatum and a demand by the Chinese staff members that he hold his head bent low as a sign of humiliation during the reading of the protest.

A member of the British mission who was reached by telephone after Hopson's meeting with his Chinese staff said that it had been "naturally out of the question" for the charge d'affaires to bow his head.

A short time later, about 100 policemen and soldiers took up positions at the gates of the British mission and several hundred Red Guards, arriving in trucks and on bicycles, gathered outside the compound. The Red Guards chanted slogans and quotations from the writings of Mao Tse-tung.

As night fell, the crowd of chanting, shouting Red Guards had swelled to about 1,000, but a British diplomat said by telephone that "Everything is fine—we're just about to have dinner."

Cars attempting to reach the mission were blocked by soldiers, who permitted them into nearby streets only if they were sure the occupants were not British. Policemen outside the compound warned two mission secretaries leaving for their homes that their safety could not be guaranteed if they left the mission grounds.

At 10:45 p.m., the precise time when the Chinese ultimatum expired, the crowd erupted into overt violence, according to diplomats living near the British compound.

The Red Guards entered the compound and began hurling cans of gasoline and Molotov cocktails and dragging furniture outside.

Within minutes, flame and smoke, which spread quickly to other nearby buildings, were visible throughout Peking.

The thuds of hammers, apparently being wielded by Red Guards, could be heard coming from the embassy building and from Hopson's residence. Telephone service into the compound was severed.

Streets were flooded with water as five Chinese fire trucks attempted to put out the blaze. By morning, the fires had been brought under control and the British diplomats and their families began leaving the grounds.

Observers said that at least two men, including Hopson, and two women secretaries had been beaten by the Red Guards.

While the principal focus of the outburst was the British diplomatic compound, Red Guards searched buildings that house foreigners elsewhere in the city in a hunt for Britons who had been unable to reach the compound area. There was no immediate word on whether any had been found.

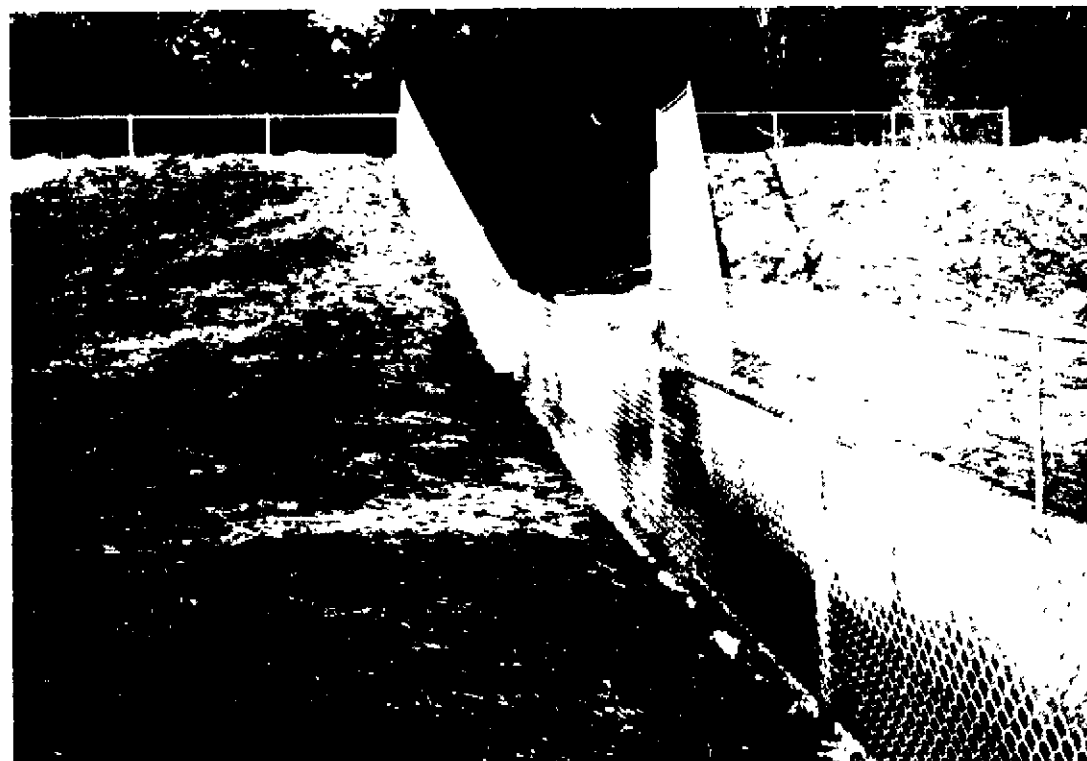

The Chinese ultimatum was first presented to Hopson Sunday night. It demanded that Britain allow three pro-Communist newspapers in Hong Kong to reopen and that Britain free a number of leftist journalists who were arrested there on charges ranging from sedition to participation in riots.

The Chinese note gave the British 48 hours to comply or face "all the consequences."

Hopson rejected the note on the ground that it was phrased in "grossly offensive language."

Jenmin Jih Pao, the Communist party newspaper in Peking, said in an article addressed to Foreign Minister George Brown that "if you try to separate the wanton crimes that you have committed in Hong Kong from the question of the relation between China and Britain you are daydreaming."

The article also noted that relations between Britain and China "remain in the stage of semiestablishment," a reference to the fact that Britain and China have exchanged only charges d'affaires.

Jamestown Gives OK on City Hall

JAMESTOWN, N.Y.—Jamestown City Council last night by a vote of eight to two gave authority to architects Howard and Dominici to proceed with the design-development stage of the new city hall project.

Councilmen Robert E. Godfrey and Frank Smreker voted No because they did not favor the inclusion of the city's welfare department in the new municipal structure.

Republican councilman Warren Erickson and Joseph Spitala a Democrat, were both absent from last night's meeting. Council also gave the go-ahead to the Jamestown Urban Renewal Agency to file an application to the Housing and Urban Development Office in Washington to obtain funds for the demolition of the Gifford and the Kent Buildings. The Urban Renewal Agency hopes to begin demolition by late October or early November. Some 40 tenants of the Kent building must first be relocated before the demolition work can begin.

Most of the other resolutions on last night's agenda were routine business, and included the purchase of a new truck, repairing and repaving several city streets, and roof repairs at the Broadhead Mills.

3 Cars and a Deer Involved in Mishap

Three cars and a deer were involved in an early morning traffic mishap yesterday on Route 69, three miles east of Sugar Grove.

State police trooper Max J. Bizzak, who investigated, said a car driven by Robert L. Harkins, 28, of 904 N. Main st., Youngsville, traveling west, hit a deer and blocked the east-bound lane.

Police said a second car, also traveling west and operated by Michael S. Nodzak, 21, RD 2, Sugar Grove, stopped. The third vehicle, according to police, driven by Linda Lou Gruber, 18, RD 3, Sugar Grove, traveling east failed to see the Harkins' vehicle and struck it. The force of the impact sent the Harkins' car into the front of the Nodzak vehicle.

Miss Gruber suffered deep knee lacerations and a bruised chest in the 6:25 a.m. mishap.

House OK's Cut Of Half-Billion In Space Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cutting more than a half-billion dollars from President Johnson's request, the House passed yesterday a bill to appropriate $4.59 billion in new funds for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

The roll call vote was 312 to 92.

The amount, lowest for the space agency since 1963, is $516.6 million below the $5.1 billion Johnson asked and $384.6 million less than was appropriated last year.

The cut was made with the President's belated approval. In signing a related bill Monday, Johnson said that ordinarily he would oppose such a reduction, but that "in the face of present circumstances" he would accept it.

Although it approved the reduction made by its Appropriations Committee, the House shouted down two attempts by Rep. William F. Ryan, D-N.Y., to cut an additional $137 million.

The House was assured by the Appropriations Committee that none of the cuts would retard major space programs already under way although some less urgent but desirable projects would be slowed down or deferred.

Total damage was listed at $1,625.

A Conneaut Lake, Pa. man suffered multiple injuries in a two-car crash which occurred at 11:55 p.m. Monday on Conewango ave. ext., a half mile north of Warren borough.

Trooper William Timmins said Kenneth G. Mellon, RD 1, Conneaut Lake, was listed in satisfactory condition at Warren General Hospital, according to hospital authorities.

According to police, a car driven by Mellon, traveling south, struck a northbound car operated by Harold H. Waite, 10 Park st., Warren, almost head-on.

Damage was listed at approximately $1,200 to each car and the investigation is being continued.

Penn. Ave. Mishap

A minor accident on Pennsylvania ave. near Grant st. yesterday caused an estimated total damage of $195 to the vehicles involved, according to a report from Warren Borough Police.

The accident occurred at 4:30 p.m., police said, when a car operated by Norman W. Matha, 18, of 311 Lexington ave., struck a car owned by Steven J. Brown, 19, of 30 Wieler road.

Police said the Brown vehicle was parked; Matha's car, travelling west on Pennsylvania ave., struck the Brown vehicle on the left rear fender.

Police said they are continuing their investigation.

Vote on Budget Bill Set for Today

By VINCENT P. CAROCCI

HARRISBURG (AP)—House Republicans moved the $1.46 billion general appropriations bill into position yesterday for a final vote and immediately scheduled a roll call for today.

"The bill is going to roll tomorrow (Wednesday)," Majority Whip Robert J. Butera, R-Montgomery, said following a 1 1/2-hour GOP caucus on the Senate - approved spending measure.

"The caucus has agreed that there shall be no more stop-gap appropriations," he added. "We are confident we will have 102 votes when the roll is called."

The legislature approved $244 million in temporary funds last June to provide additional time for negotiations on the four-month deadlock between Republicans and Democrats over the Shafer budget and tax program.

The Budget Office has estimated that the stop gap funds will expire by either the first or second week of September. Should the vote come off as scheduled—and such controversial matters are always subject to last-minute changes—it would represent the first concrete step to end that impasse.

Gov. Shafer's $1.79 billion budget has been before the lawmakers since April and his $267 million tax program since June.

House Minority Democrats have prepared 48 amendments to offer when the bill is called to trim the general fund bill, amounting to exactly $1,466,545,470, by approximately $18 million.

Minority Leader Herbert Fineman, D-Philadelphia, who has been directing the successful-to-date-fight against the budget, promised a full-scale floor fight on the amendments.

In anticipation of the extended debate, the House is to reconvene at 9 a.m., an unusually early starting time.

BY MONEY FROM LOBBYISTS

Tobacco Testimony Tainted

(c) N.Y. Times News Service WASHINGTON—A New York University department head who urged Congress to disapprove any health warning in cigarette advertising received $3,200 from the tobacco industry for his services.

Darrell B. Lucas, chairman of the Department of Marketing of the N.Y.U. Graduate School of Business Administration, told Sen. Daniel B. Brewster that he had charged a $400-a-day consulting fee for submitting a statement to a 1965 Senate hearing on cigarette legislation. Lucas did not appear to testify, but opposed the warning requirement as "inconsistent with the basic function of advertising."

Earlier this month, Brewster had sent a questionnaire to 37 "independent witnesses" who had testified or submitted statements for hearings before the Senate commerce committee. The Maryland Democrat is a committee member.

By yesterday, 16 persons had replied. About a half-dozen physicians, statisticians and educators reported they had been offered or asked for and received fees from the tobacco industry or its representatives. Replies from some other witnesses requesting cigarette warnings indicated that their travel and hotel expenses had been paid by such groups as the American Cancer Society, the New York City Health Department and the National Tuberculosis Association. None of this group said they had received fees from the organizations that sent them.

'Sedition' Is Charged Against SNCC Worker

(c) N.Y. Times News Service NASHVILLE, Tenn. — George Washington Ware, who identified himself as a field worker for the Student Non-violent Coordinating Committee, was charged yesterday with sedition. He was held in the Nashville-Davidson County Jail after failing to post a $10,000 bond.

The Tennessee sedition statute carries a maximum penalty of 10 years in prison and $10,000 fine. It was last revised in 1959, and there is no record of anyone ever having been convicted under it.

Ware returned recently from Havana, where he accompanied Stokely Carmichael, former chairman of the student committee, on a visit to Premier Fidel Castro.

The warrant accused Ware of "advocating the overthrow of the government of the United States and the State of Tennessee by seizure of political, social and economic power by any means, including violence."

It gave no specific information on which the charge was based, although Ware, in a talk to a group of children and adults at a "Liberation School" Monday, told Negroes that they would have to seize power from the white community in Nashville.

Car Firms Cancel Harness Belt Plans

(c) N.Y. TIMES News Service WASHINGTON — The Ford Motor Company and General Motors corporation said yesterday that their initial production runs of 1968-model cars would not incorporate shoulder harnesses as standard safety equipment.

Chrysler Corporation's production plans have never called for installation of such belts during the first part of the 1968 model year.

American Motors corporation also may not include the harnesses on most of the cars it manufactures in the coming weeks.

Ford, G.M., and American Motors had originally planned of their new vehicles in time for this fall's new car sales, although under federal law the devices need not be standard equipment until Jan. 1, 1968. But questions about the effectiveness of the across-the-chest straps had been raised over the weekend, and yesterday it became clear that the major automobile manufacturers did not want to proceed with installation until the government had made new harness studies.

The doubts raised about the devices center on the possibility that they may cause neck and shoulder abrasions and possibly other injuries during collisions.

Forest Fires Hit Large Area

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Some 86,300 acres of timberland were reported ablaze in four northwestern states and Canada yesterday as fire fighters hoped for a change of weather and more volunteers to battle smaller blazes, mostly set by lightning.

But the largest fire—at Shuswap Lake in British Columbia—was blamed on a careless hiker's cigarette. That fire had burned 30,000 acres and forced closure of the Shuswap and Okanagan Valley tourist areas.

Lands and Forest Minister Ray Williston said the closure prohibits camping and prospecting in all of southern British Columbia from the Alberta border to central Vancouver Island. He added that travel on major highways would be allowed but no passage to off-highway lakes and campsites.

The fire at Sproat Lake near Vancouver doubled in size Monday to 6,000 acres and Provincial Forest Service officials were looking for more bombers to send to a 7,000-acre fire raging out of control at Portage Mountain in Dawson Creek.

More than 25,000 acres were reported burning in Oregon where the largest fire had consumed 14,000 acres on Bureau of Land Management property south of Burns. Another 8,000-acre blaze destroyed three ranch houses southwest of The Dalles in Central Oregon near the Washington border.

Montana officials reported an additional 3,733 acres burned in 16 northern forests in the last 24 hours as smoke jumpers made 77 jumps. Still out of control were the 4,200-acre Flathead and 700-acre Glacier Wall fires in Glacier National Park.

Labor problems entered the fire picture on two fronts. In British Columbia, a local president of the International Woodworkers of America, Walter Allen, said the union was investigating complaints of meals, hours, and hiring methods on the fire lines. Meanwhile, 150 Kennecott Copper Corp. employees, who have been on strike for six weeks, answered the call for manpower. They were to board a Forest Service plane in Utah to help with Idaho fires.

Most Idaho blazes were concentrated in the Northern Panhandle where the Trapper Peak and Plume Creek fires remained out of control, burning a total of 6,600 acres. Crews at Plume Creek near Sandpoint expected to have the fire under control by Wednesday but some 875 men, 24 bulldozers, three helicopters and three fire retardant bombers battled the persistent flames at Trapper Peak in the Kanku National Forest.

At Boise, Idaho Gov. Don W. Samuelson cancelled all traveling engagements to devote full time to the critical fire danger. He said it was "hard to find any encouraging developments."

BAIL REDUCED TO $15,000

Rap Brown is Out on Bail

By EARL CALDWELL

(c) N.Y. Times News Service NEW YORK — H. Rap Brown, jailed since Saturday on a federal gun charge, was freed yesterday after being granted a sizable reduction in bail. He declared immediately that "Justice is a joke in America."

U.S. District Court Judge Thomas Murphy ordered Brown's bail cut from $25,000 to $15,000 after a boisterous courtroom proceeding that was punctuated with shouts of "Black Power, Black Power." Murphy walked off the bench twice.

Before he left the first time, the judge gestured towards one of Brown's aides and ordered federal marshals to "throw that man out."

The judge's order touched off wild courtroom scene as marshals scuffled to eject James Forman and Ralph Featherstone, both national officers of the Student Non-violent Coordinating Committee.

The second outburst came when Brown, the militant national chairman of S.N.C.C., entered the courtroom.

His appearance was greeted by loud applause from his followers who had packed the third-floor courtroom and repeatedly shouted "Black Power."

The tall, lanky Negro leader, wearing blue blazer and dark glasses, responded by raising his arms with both fists clenched.

ed in gesture that has become S.N.C.C.'s symbol of defiance. In his talk at the courthouse, Brown said that "If Lyndon Johnson thinks I'm going to pay $25,000 to get out of jail, he's crazy. He wouldn't pay that much for Lady Bird."

Regarding the rifle that led to his arrest, Brown said: "If he (President Johnson) is worried about my rifle, wait until I get my atom bomb."

Brown was arrested on charges of having carried a gun across state lines while under indictment.

This Is Democracy?

The Warren County Republican Committee Monday night will set a good example of what "true" democracy isn't.

According to Chairman Gurney Ball, the local county GOP committee will meet to name five conferees and Forest County will elect one. These six conferees, representing the 65th House of Representatives District, will be responsible for choosing a candidate to run in the November election to fill the unexpired term of the late William C. Fuelhart.

This method of selecting a candidate was based on a ruling by the Secretary of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. This may be good and well. But now the local Republican rulers have decided to pick the conferees and have them decide on a candidate at the same time.

We believe the conferees—who may have already made up their minds

What Can Be Done?

(Substituting for Joseph Alsop)

The assumption here, as I suggested in an earlier piece, is that the world's problems are not insoluble if only men have the will to match their resources to their problems and act boldly. I spoke of the Vietnam war and taxes and the poverty of the inner city. There are other staggering problems, but they are not hopeless.

The one that lends itself least to hope is world hunger, which results partly from the fact that modern science has dealt with early deaths so effectively, but that the nations needing them most have not caught up with the potentials either of family planning or of improved food production.

Japan dealt brilliantly with its problem of population control by a campaign of legalized abortions and sterilization, but its industrial vigor also gave it the trade balance to import food as a supplement to its improved agriculture.

India is starting a sterilization campaign, but it cannot be effective without other measures. Neither India nor Pakistan nor Egypt has yet shown the necessary mastery of agriculture, nor the will toward population control, to assure survival.

I should like to see a world summit meeting of religious leaders who would give their massive authority to a global program of family planning, which strikes me as better in every way to non-selective sterilization. If this could be done, the agronomists could do something about improved food raising without entering into a hopeless race with the birth rate.

The other specter that hangs over mankind is the prospect of widespread nuclear death. It is

Legislators in a Smog

HARRISBURG — Legislative leaders on both sides of the political aisle at this point are in a bit of a smog as to whether the "Legislative record" currently being compiled by this 1967 session represents a plus or minus for either side—insofar as election year 1968 is concerned.

In fact as the session drones on preparatory to entering its ninth month, there is some question in the minds of many lawmakers as to whether the session even has a plus or minus side (or for that matter, whether it has any side at all).

However as they look to 1968 and the legislative elections upcoming next year (along with the influencing presidential) there is slightly more than a quiver and tremor in most legislative voices—and not without good reason.

The legislative record—such as it is—represents one facet of "worrisome 1968"; of equal concern to lawmakers is trying to run for office in the many comparatively new legislative districts that emerged from the court-mandated district reshuffling of House and Senate two short years ago.

When the two facets are lumped together, most members of the Legislature find themselves in the middle of a rather horrendous shuffle.

On the legislative record front:

Between near-controlling Democrats in the House of Representatives and barely-controlling Republicans in the Senate there has been little in the past eight months of sessioning either can point to vigorously as strictly their own ear-shattering legislative gems.

Usually such legislation has wound up either modified by the "other side" so that the legislation cannot be classified as singular (politically) legislation in the bloodthirsty sense, or opposition sponsors have been picked up or added in House or Senate.

All of this has produced a rather salty situation—insofar as the "record" for either side is concerned.

There are isolated instances, of course, that stand fitfully on their own.

But in actuality even these isolated instances are a bit difficult to find, and they most certainly are not in the realm of major legislative activity.

From the Republican administration standpoint there are exactly twelve measures to date to gain legislative approval that fall within the classification of "major administration measures."

Nine of those concerned with whom, out of a possible dozen candidates, they want as a candidate—represent the thousands of other party members involved in their decision.

But are these thousands of other Republicans going to have an opportunity to express their views to the conferees before their representatives (the conferees) make their decision? No! According to Chairman Ball, after the conferees are chosen Monday evening the potential candidates to be selected will have the opportunity to make their pitch. Immediately following this political rally the conferees will caucus to make their choice.

Where does this leave John Doe Republican? Out in the cold. There will not even be a few moments—not even a day—of time for the concerned voter to express his views to the individual who is speaking for him.

peace-keeping, economic integration and also aid to the developing nations. I suspect that NATO, which is largely outworn, will have to be reborn as part of such a grouping and will play primarily a peace role rather than a military one.

It will be said that this reckons without Charles de Gaulle, but I don't mean to. De Gaulle is a great intellect and personality, and in his earlier years he was right on many things. But his recent Canadian adventure in Sudeten politics, his blundering in domestic social policies and his last TV speech ("the great enemy is doubt") all suggest that it is unwise to attack him; he caricatures himself better than anyone else can.

I suspect that Jean Monnet was right all along in saying that the best way to meet de Gaulle is not to attack him, but to work quietly toward the innovations which will not only integrate Western Europe within itself, but also integrate it with the Americas on one side and with Eastern Europe on the other.

This formula applies equally to the Latin-American and the Asian countries: they need to achieve economic integration among themselves first, on their own continents, and reach out toward the Great Powers in an interchange of science, technology, education, culture.

As for the problem of China and its new weapons, if it can stop tearing itself to pieces through a series of civil massacres it will have to face a Concert of Powers—including Russia and America—that will expect it to join in a world-policing authority. Against such a united world opinion the new Chinese leaders—when they finally emerge—will not be able to hold out.

Moreover, the people who do not feel the need for reform, or do not believe that there is justice and reason in the claims of the Great Society, now have a legitimate reason for stopping the reforms and even of reversing them. President Johnson is much mistaken if he thinks that because he has adopted the Goldwater war policy, the Goldwater faction will support the Great Society. Nor can he convince the predominant and bewildered majority of our people that the 80th Congress is wicked because it puts the war ahead of everything else.

In a word, therefore, the Negro grievances cannot be assuaged by a policy of white philanthropy, or white sacrifices to uplift the Negro. The only way forward is to make the advance of the Negro a part of the general effort to solve the problems and deal with the needs of our great urban centers. But this undertaking, though it is a noble and inspiring one, is possible only if it becomes the main preoccupation of the whole nation. And that is impossible while the nation is distracted and preoccupied by a foreign war it does not understand and does not believe in.

The remaining three legislative tomes within the realm of major administration bills (as established by the administration itself) to gain legislative and gubernatorial approval concern expanded school teacher retirement benefits, authorization for state assistance in community college construction, and increasing the force of the Pennsylvania State Police.

But in all three of these latter instances, anti-administration Democratic votes were behind the legislation as well as administration support.

The budget and tax stalemate that has hung over Capitol Hill like a pall these past two months of the new fiscal year can hardly be regarded as anything worthy of pointing to on the part of either administration Republican hopefuls or anti-administration Democratic stalwarts—a sorry record both sides must face up to next year.

In a nutshell, there's very little "legislative record" lawmakers on either side of the aisle have to brag about—so far, at least!

The Hope Of The Negroes

(Last of a series)

The hope of the Negro people now is to participate in the reform and reconstruction of their social order. There is no hope for them as members of a separate minority who are to be accorded separate and special measures of relief and uplift.

A general movement of reform and reconstruction can exist only if its objectives are the main preoccupation of the great masses of the nation. In 1964 it was conceivable, indeed possible, that the Great Society would become the main American preoccupation for a generation to come. It has not been the American preoccupation ever since President Johnson decided that he had to wage war in Asia. For it is impossible to expect a people to be preoccupied at one and the same time with two diametrically opposite and contradicting commitments: with a war on the one side of the world and with the rebuilding of their own society at home.

Once the President chose to believe that he had to prevail in a war of attrition on the Asian mainland, the Great Society lost its momentum and its soul, and became nothing more than a complex series of political handouts to the poor. The hope of Negro participation in the creation of a new American social order was lost.

President Johnson keeps on saying that the United States is big enough and rich enough to pay for the war in Vietnam and at the same time for the Great Society at home. More than anything else this reveals Lyndon Johnson's lack of knowledge of war and his lack of wisdom in dealing with it. His willingness to believe that a democracy can have two overwhelming preoccupations at the same time is the mark of an amateur.

It is the view of a man who does not realize, because he has never himself felt it, the absorbing preoccupation of war. He does not understand that when the issues are life and death, victory and defeat, everything else becomes pale and irrelevant and unimportant. Some of the measures for the Great Society are still on the White House list of desirable legislation. But with half a million men fighting in Asia nobody really cares, or can care about what life is like in a Detroit slum.

Moreover, the people who do not feel the need for reform, or do not believe that there is justice and reason in the claims of the Great Society, now have a legitimate reason for stopping the reforms and even of reversing them. President Johnson is much mistaken if he thinks that because he has adopted the Goldwater war policy, the Goldwater faction will support the Great Society. ment the babies were hatched, my friend freed the parents and watched the next generation grow up. These two had never seen a bird. At mating time, the female began to make the nest with the identical knots.

It went on for five generations. Who taught her? Nobody. Then there must be something built into the brain called instinct. This is a weak word designed to cover a mystery. A newborn monkey, placed on the edge of a cliff, will back away in fright. Why? Who taught it the components of danger?

The black ant, to which 200 yards may be a day's travel, navigates by the sun. This can be proved by catching him on his way home, shielding the sun with an overhead screen, and placing a mirror so that light comes from a different direction. The ant will alter his course every time. With each step — if he has found food — he will leave a slight odor so that all the ants in his particular colony can find their way to the treasure.

Birds, animals and insects appear to be governed by the instincts of hunger, sex drive, self-preservation and residence. The latter refers to an area which the animal regards as belonging to him. To a bee, it may be one square mile, and he will sting an invader to death in that area. To a dog, it may be 50 feet of front lawn.

A domesticated dog may display "residence" by short squirts of urine on shrubs, trees and poles within the area of his home. He will do this even if his owner threatens him with punishment. Instinct forces him to leave his odor around his residence so that

To Recruit Guerrillas in U.S.

WASHINGTON—Following up his call for guerrilla warfare in the United States, Cuban Dictator Fidel Castro is preparing to sneak a Negro revolutionary into the United States to direct the guerrilla movement.

An intelligence report identifies him as Robert Williams, who already has contacts among Negro extremists. It was Williams reportedly who arranged for Stokely Carmichael to go to Cuba.

Williams presumably will attempt to recruit other Negroes, who will be sent to Cuba by the same underground route — via Prague—for guerrilla training.

Already Williams has smuggled thousands of incendiary leaflets into the United States, exhorting Negroes to take up weapons against the whites and giving do-it-yourself instructions in sabotage.

A former U.S. Marine, Robert Williams became a Negro hero of sorts after he organized armed resistance to a Ku Klux Klan drive into the colored section of Monroe, N.C. He threw up a sandbag barricade, positioned his followers behind it, and ordered them to fire on the approaching Klansmen.

With a great flapping of white sheets, the Klansmen, though armed themselves, fled in panic. They prefer to terrorize defenseless Negroes. During a subsequent race riot, Williams held a white couple in his home. He was charged with kidnapping, and escaped to Havana in August, 1961, just a jump ahead of the FBI.

He has been shuttling between Havana and Peking ever since. The intelligence report claims he is now on his way back from China to head up Castro's U.S.-bound guerrillas.

Boston's colorful Richard Cardinal Cushing, the intimate friend and spiritual adviser to the Kennedy clan, has predicted privately that Sen. Robert Kennedy, D-N.Y., will never make it to the White House.

The difference between the late Jack Kennedy's successful campaign and Bobby Kennedy's prospects, the Cardinal explained to friends, is the illness of their father. Without old Joe Kennedy pulling wires in the back room, the Cardinal suggested, Bobby won't win the Presidency.

The prelate jovially recalled how he and old Joe, both hard-shell Catholics, made strategic contributions to Protestant ministers in West Virginia to help win friends and influence voters for Jack Kennedy in the crucial 1960 West Virginia primary.

"We donated $200 to some, $500 to others—and a few got $1,000—depending upon the size of their congregations," confessed the Cardinal, chuckling merrily.

The plight of the migrant workers has been getting attention in the press lately, but it has received little attention from Congress.

The youngest of the sciences is called ethology. It is the study of animal behavior, and the word is only 22 years old. We have learned a great deal from animals, birds and insects, but we have a long way to go. My dog Rocky walks up to a floor mirror and sees another dog. Professor S. A. Barnett of Glasgow University, has studied animal behavior for many years and he is not sure he knows "why." In his latest book, "Instinct and Intelligence," published by Prentice-Hall, he opens a sensational world of animal observation. He tells about the neat female wasp, who will use a small pebble between her head and forelegs to iron the wrinkles out of her nest.

with few exceptions, are lined up on the side of the big ranchers against their underpaid stoop laborers.

Two of the most vociferous champions of the ranchers are Congressmen Burt Talcott and Charles Teague, both Republicans, who represent adjoining California districts. Teague's family owns Limoneira Ranch, the world's largest lemon producer. Although Talcott is not himself a rancher, his law firm represents the packing and processing houses that do business with the ranchers.

Talcott and Teague have always stood together in the House, opposing curbs on the admission of cheap Mexican labor, favoring legislation that benefits the ranchers, crying out in angry duet against any infringement upon the feudal rule of the big ranch owners.

In a chat within this column, white-thatched Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas confirmed that he had been eulogized out of the Vice Presidential nomination at the 1944 Democratic convention. The nomination went instead to Harry S. Truman, who succeeded Franklin D. Roosevelt a year later as President.

Douglas was told by Grace Tully, FDR's private secretary, that President Roosevelt had dictated a letter to the Chicago convention, saying he would accept either Douglas or Truman as his running mate. She said that Douglas's name had been listed first.

But Bob Hannegan, then Democratic National Chairman, wanted Truman. Hannegan intercepted Roosevelt's letter and retyped it for release with Truman's name first. Thus the press and public got the idea that Truman was FDR's favorite, and the convention carried out history.

At a subsequent cocktail party, Douglas recalled, a beaming Hannegan came up to him.

"I guess we boxed you in," he said amiably. "If I ever need a campaign manager," replied Douglas with equal good humor, "I'll call on you."

The recollection of how close he came to the Presidency, however, "has ground at Douglas all these years," says a friend. The rugged old jurist has hungered for the chance the Presidency would have given him possibly to maintain the historic Chinese-American friendship, thus averting the Korean and Vietnam wars.

He was in touch with Red Chinese leaders who persuaded him that they had no desire to be dominated by Russia. He always felt that China and Russia, facing each other across the world's longest border, inevitably would clash. He remains convinced that timely and friendly recognition of Red China would have kept the Chinese neutral and would have avoided two decades of crises in Asia.

Justice Douglas still hangs on to the hope that, somehow the pieces of the old Chinese-American friendship can be picked up. He obtained State Department approval last year for a visit behind the Bamboo Curtain, but the Chinese never responded to his travel request. Earlier this year, despite the convulsion in China, he renewed his application.

SYLVIA PORTER

How Much Can You Afford?

"What proportion of our monthly earnings should we budget for mortgage payments?"

"My husband grosses $11,000 a year; how much can we afford to pay for a new house?"

"How much does the cost of home maintenance boost the total cost of home ownership and how much should we earmark for these costs, over and above the mortgage payments?"

The extent to which you're now sending me questions such as these surely signals your mounting concern over the steeply rising costs of home construction and of home-ownership in general. It also surely suggests there will be a record demand for this type of financial guidance as a whole new generation of newly married World War II babies crowds into the home buying market.

Here, then, are the basic rules brought up to date with the help of the American Bankers Association.

If you are in the low to middle income bracket, put a MAXIMUM on your house cost at 2½ times your gross yearly income. For example, if your gross annual income is $10,000, you can afford a house costing up to $20,000 or $25,000.

If your income tends to fluctuate sharply, use an average of your yearly income over the past few years as a yardstick.

If you are in a high income bracket, figure on spending relatively LESS than 2½ times your gross income on a new home.

This is only a broad rule-of-thumb. Even in lower brackets, the sum you pay for a house should be LESS than 2½ times your gross income if you're carrying a heavy debt load on other purchases; if your family is large; if you plan to buy an old house requiring a lot of repairs; if you will have heavy near-future financial obligations for the college education of your children; if property taxes in the neighborhood are high (and likely to rise further as you make improvements); if your income is irregular; if your down payment is low; and if your job may force you to move unexpectedly.

On the other hand, even in the lower brackets, you can afford to pay MORE for your house if you plan and are able to do a lot of the necessary maintenance and repairs on the house yourself; if your family is small; if your property taxes are light and likely to remain light; if you are virtually certain your income will increase at regular intervals; if the home you buy is a new one involving low upkeep costs—and if you are able to make a relatively large down payment from your savings.

Be careful, though, not to drain too much of your savings into a down payment. You will need enough cash to pay: lawyers, architects, surveyors or appraisers involved in the purchase; recording fees, title policy fees and closing charges on the loan; insurance and taxes on your new home; moving costs and immediate repair bills. And there always will be unexpected expenses.

Another way to determine how much of a house you can afford is to figure out the total monthly costs of home ownership to you. These costs, experience indicates, should amount to no more than one-fourth of your after-tax income, or the equivalent of a week's take-home pay each month.

If you figure your total housing costs this way, you must estimate and include these items: your monthly mortgage payment, the yearly amount of property taxes, insurance and upkeep (not including utilities.) Put this total on a monthly basis.

Which ever way you choose to figure out how much of a house you can afford, the important point is to figure it before you buy. You will be buying a headache and a heartache along with your house if you ignore this key rule.

secretion which excites him. At once he poses in a sexy position. The female then nibbles at his neck glands. They make love facing away from each other.

A spider brings a dead fly to his wife. They make love for an hour and pause at times to refresh themselves with flet of fly. Most incongruous of all is the working bee. When he finds fresh flowers, he brings pollen on his feet to the hive. The dance begins a dance. The thousands of other bees pause to watch.

He permits some to taste the pollen. Then he dances in a direct compass bearing to where the find is. The length of his line tells everyone how far the food is.

Any questions? . . .

Writer Says Dark Next Braves Head

CHICAGO (AP) — Alvin Dark wanted to be fired as manager of the Kansas City Athletics and will become the next manager of the Atlanta Braves, a story by baseball writer Jerome Holtzman of the Chicago Sun-Times said last night.

Holtzman quoted one baseball official as saying "Alvin has just pulled one of the greatest finesse jobs of our time."

The article said Charles O. Finley, owner of the A's, fired Dark Saturday night but then offered him a two-year contract which Dark turned down.

The story had been that Finley called a meeting in Washington Saturday night with Dark and other officials of the club as an aftermath to the suspension of pitcher Lew Krausse. According to reports, Finley went into the meeting ready to give Dark a new, two-year contract by the time the meeting ended Sunday morning, Finley fired Dark.

Holtzman, according to his sources, said Finley immediately fired Dark and then, as the meeting continued, changed his mind and offered Dark a new contract which Dark refused. "Knowledgeable people inside baseball, however, are beginning to have their doubts and the belief seems to be growing that Dark wanted to be fired, anyway, and used this episode to his advantage," the Sun-Times story said.

Holtzman said Dark will become the next manager at Atlanta.

"The reasoning here is that if Dark actually wanted to remain he never would have allowed his players to draft a letter criticizing Finley," the story said. "Instead, he would have done everything possible to soothe his men and prevent a public statement."

"Also significant, and previously unpublished, is that Dark is believed to have tried to break his contract with Finley last year when the Tigers approached Dark and offered to make him their manager."

Boston Red Sox Pick Up Landis

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Red Sox announced yesterday night they have signed veteran outfielder Jim Landis, who had been a free agent after being recently released by the Detroit Tigers.

Landis, 33, who bats and throws right, has been in the major leagues since coming up with the Chicago White Sox in 1957.

EARL WILSON MAJORS' FIRST 17 GAME WINNER; CHISOX RETAIN LEAD

Tigers Knock Twins from First on Sweep

DETROIT (AP) — Dick McAuliffe opened the 11th inning with a triple and scored on a wild pitch, giving Detroit a 2-1 victory over Minnesota last night and a sweep of a doubleheader which knocked the Twins out of the American League lead.

Earl Wilson became the first 17-game winner in the majors as the Tigers won the opener 7-3. The double loss dropped Minnesota to third place, one percentage point ahead of the fourth-place Tigers. Each team is one game out of first.

McAuliffe tripled off relief pitcher Al Worthington, 7-8, and then, after Al Kaline fouled out, raced home on the wild pitch.

NOT PRONE TO ARGUE

Curt Blefary of the Orioles slides back into first base (top) in an effort to prevent a doubleplay in the first game of Sunday's twinbill at Chicago, but Pete Ward of the White Sox has already made the out. Blefary found it difficult to believe (bottom) as he remained on the ground for a few seconds. Chicago took both games, 4-2 and 2-1.

The victory, which went to Fred Lasher, 1-0, was the fifth straight for the Tigers.

The Tigers, held to three hits by Jim Kaat through eight innings, tied the nightcap when McAuliffe led off with a single and scored on Kaline's double.

Worthington then relieved Kaat and retired the side.

Minnesota took a 1-0 lead in the second inning. Bob Allison walked, Rod Carew singled and Jerry Zimmerman was hit by a pitch from Mickey Lolich, who struck out 13 Twins before being lifted for a pinch hitter in the eighth.

Lolich then struck out Ted Uhlender and got Kaat to ground to second baseman McAuliffe, who threw to first for the second out. First baseman Bill Freehan then threw to shortstop Ray Oyler, who tagged out Carew, but McAuliffe scored before the play was completed.

In the first game, Wilson ran his record to 17-3 although he gave up solo home runs to Cesar Tovar, Tony Oliva and Uhlender.

The Tigers jumped on Dean Chance, 16-9, in the first inning when Lenny Green singled and scored on McAuliffe's 20th homer.

Wilson doubled home Freehan, who had reached base on an error in the second.

Finley Says Krausse Can Return

BALTIMORE (AP) — Charles O. Finley, owner of the Kansas City Athletics, reinstated pitcher Lew Krausse yesterday.

Krausse planned to rejoin the club last night for the second game of the American League twin-night doubleheader against the Baltimore Orioles.

It was the suspension of Krausse that indirectly led to the shakeup of the A's.

Finley fired Manager Al Dark early Sunday morning and handed first baseman Ken Harrelson his unconditional release Monday.

The feud developed when Finley suspended Krausse last Friday for an alleged incident on a recent Trans World Airlines flight from Boston to Kansas City.

Finley flew here Monday night to talk with his player about their unanimous decision not to retract a statement in which they accused Finley of undermining team morale.

When the meeting broke up shortly before curfew time at the A's, Finley adamantly refused to answer newsmen's questions.

Finley and player representative Jack Aker would only say "It was an enjoyable meeting."

Pinch hitter Willie Horton's sacrifice fly with the bases loaded produced a run in the Detroit fourth, and the Tigers added single runs in the fifth and sixth before Ed Mathews completed their scoring with his first American League homer in the eighth.

ChiSox-Yanks

CHICAGO (AP) — Left-hander Fritz Peterson fired a two-hitter in leading the New York Yankees past the Chicago White Sox 2-1 last night for a split of their doubleheader.

Wayne Causey rapped out three hits and drove in all three runs in the White Sox 3-2 first game triumph.

By dividing the twin bill, the White Sox regained sole possession of first place in the tight American League race. They led Boston by one percentage point and both Minnesota and Detroit by one game.

Peterson, gaining his fourth victory against 13 losses, re-tired the first 13 men he faced before yielding a single by Tommie Agee in the fifth inning of the nightcap. Agee doubled in the eighth for the only other Chicago hit and came around to score on a pair of infield outs.

The Yankees scored their first run in the second inning when Steve Whitaker doubled and Mike Hegan singled for his first RBI of the season. They added what proved to be the winning run in the eighth on Tom Tresh's leadoff triple and Whitaker's ground out.

Joe Horlen, who held the Yankees to five hits, took the loss, his fourth against 14 victories. Causey took charge in the opener and twice wiped out Yankee leads with his hits. The Yanks took the lead in the second inning on a double by Charlie Smith, a wild pitch and a botched out double play attempt.

Chicago tied it in the bottom of the second on a single by Ron Hansen, a wild pitch and Causey's double. Tresh hit his 11th homer in the top of the third but the Sox came back with a pair in the bottom of the third on Causey's triple following singles by Rocky Colavito and Hansen.

Wilbur Wood recorded his fourth victory against two losses but needed late inning help from Bob Locker.

BoSox-Senators

BOSTON (AP) — Clutch late-inning hits by Dalton Jones and George Scott led surging Boston to a 2-1, 5-3 doubleheader sweep over Washington last night, extending the Red Sox' winning streak to seven games.

The twin victories vaulted Boston into second place in the American League pennant scramble, just one percentage point behind the Chicago White Sox, who split a doubleheader with the New York Yankees.

Jones' two-run pinch triple broke up a scoreless tie in the seventh inning of the opener and Scott's bases-loaded single, also in the seventh, brought the Red Sox from behind in the nightcap.

A tremendous relief pitching job by John Wyatt helped the Red Sox nail their first game victory. The veteran right-hander struck out Frank Howard with the tying run on second in the eighth inning, then escaped from a bases-loaded, none out jam in the ninth by getting Paul Casanova to hit into a double-play via the plate and striking out Tim Cullen.

Washington led for most of the second game after Cap Peterson's two-run single in the first inning, but the Red Sox tied it in the sixth on Reggie Smith's 12th homer, Jerry Adair's double and Rico Petrocelli's single.

Mike Epstein singled and Peterson doubled him home to put Washington ahead again, 3-2, in the seventh.

But the Red Sox struck back quickly as singles by pinch-hitter Jose Tartabull and Joe Foy plus an error by Epstein loaded the bases. Scott lashed a single to right for two runs and another scored after second baseman Bob Saveryne made a back-to-the-plate catch of Smith's fly in short center.

In the first game right-handers Phil Ortega of Washington and Jerry Stephenson of Boston were hooked in a scoreless duel until Smith's double and an intentional walk put two Red Sox on with two out in the seventh. Jones batted for Mike Andrews and smashed a long drive into the right field corner, scoring both runners.

The seventh lifted the Angels even at 2-2. Tiant then fanned the side for the third time in the game.

He picked up his 16th strikeout in the eighth, topping the season high of 15 shared by rookies Don Wilson of Houston and Gary Nolan of Cincinnati.

The Angels clipped Tiant for a run in the first on Roger Repoz' double and a single by Jim Fregosi. The Indians countered in the bottom of the inning when Chuck Hinton singled, took third on a single by Leon Wagner and scored as Max Alvis hit into a double play.

Wagner walked in the fourth and came around with the lead run on two errors and a sacrifice fly by Azcue.

Athletics-Orioles

BALTIMORE (AP) — Jim Catfish Hunter scored his fourth 1967 victory over Baltimore yesterday beating the Orioles 6-1 in the second game of a doubleheader.

Jim Hardin won the opener 2-1 for the Orioles on a tie-breaking double by Dave Johnson in the sixth inning.

Hunter, 11-12, allowed only five hits, but needed relief help in the ninth when the Orioles scored.

Jim Gosger and John Donaldson each drove in a pair of runs for the A's in the nightcap.

Loser Bill Dillman, 5-8, re-tired the first 12 batters before issuing a walk to open the fifth. Consecutive singles by Danny Cater, Gosger and Dick Green made it 2-0.

Kansas City added two more runs in the seventh on Donaldson's double off reliever Eddie Watt. Gosger doubled home a run in the eighth and Mike Hershberger singled in one in the ninth.

In the opener, Donaldson singled in a run in the sixth to tie the score 1-1. But doubles by Frank Robinson and Johnson snapped the deadlock in the bottom of the inning.

Baltimore's first run came in the opening inning on Luis Aparicio's double, a sacrifice and a passed ball.

Phils Take Pair; Cubs Blast Bucs

NEW YORK (AP) — Rich Allen slugged two homers and right-hander Larry Jackson recaptured his magic touch against New York as the Philadelphia Phillies completed a doubleheader sweep last night with an 11-4 romp over the Mets.

Rick Wise scattered seven hits in pitching the Phillies to a 2-0 victory in the first game.

Allen homered to lead off a two-run second inning in the nightcap and drilled his 23rd homer with one on in the seventh. Doubles by Bill White, Jackson and Cookie Rojas plus John Briggs' single accounted for three runs in the fourth. The Phils added three more in the eighth and another in the ninth.

Jackson, beaten last week by the Mets after a run of 18 straight victories against them, boosted his season mark to 9-12 with help from Dick Farrell in the seventh.

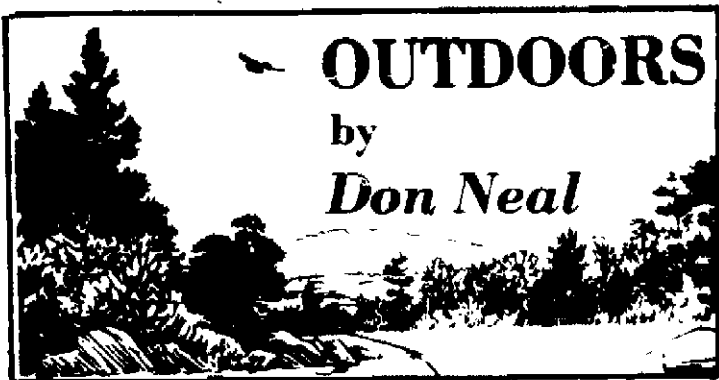

Bill White's run-scoring single in the fourth inning of the opener gave Wise all the support he needed in outpitching rookie Tom Seaver for his seventh victory in 16 decisions. Tony Gonzalez homered in the ninth for an insurance run.

Seaver, who has shown the most improvement at the plate in second half play and his hitting has sparked Beverage to several victories in the past few weeks. Conti has also come on strong after a slow start and Kudlock, despite slipping under the .400 point for the first time this season, leads the loop in home runs with 10.

Magown has hammered seven round-trippers for the second position both on the team and in the league, six Beverage men have each ripped a pair of triples and Nick Creola's seven doubles is tops for the team and third best in the loop.

Left-hander Scott Melville remains the biggest winner on the Beverage staff with a 5-0 mark and his 62 strike outs is also a team high. Rich Mallak is also undefeated at 4-0. Jim Patterson has won six against two setbacks and Ted Sadowski shows a 3-1 slate.

Both clubs sport a 13-2 slate and the second half loop title

Groutage Gives

Tom Groutage, the man who is replacing Joe Boccardy as fisheries manager in this district for the Bureau of Sport Fisheries spent a week recently checking the turn of events at the Kinzua Dam. With a crew of three assistants Tom netted various parts of the lake to determine the headway being made by the fish stocked there to date.

In all, he seemed very well pleased with the way things are progressing. At least he found that most of the fish stocked are maintaining their numbers and growing rapidly. And that forage conditions in the lake are above average.

Most amazing to the new fisheries manager was the number of crappies or calico bass that presently populate the lake. These, he said, are both numerous and of good size considering the age of the reservoir.

The smallmouth bass stocked last year, and supposedly washed down the river when the dam was drained, have reached legal size and better. Tom says they show signs of being very active and should be furnishing some good fishing in the near future.

So far as the bass that were stocked this year, Groutage thinks that the survival rate was excellent and these should be of catchable size next spring.

He could find no indication of the half-million walleye fry that were stocked but due to their small size it could hardly be expected they would be caught in the nets.

The same is true, he said, of the 50,000 muskies stocked by the Pennsylvania Fish Commission. But with the amount of food available to them there is little question these heavy predators will do all right for themselves.

It is highly important, Groutage thinks, that he keep a close check on the Kinzua Dam at this time. As he says, this is the formative period and what happens now could be indicative of what we can expect in the future. For this reason he agrees with my thinking that a full time biologist should be employed at the dam.

And while it is my idea that a full time biologist could split his time between the dam and the river to good advantage, Groutage points out that his agency has no control over the river at this time. The responsibility for the river downstream of the dam is placed with the Pennsylvania Fish Commission.

However, we did talk of the trout fishing that has unexpectedly developed in the tailwaters. And I think that he agrees that unless a dryer summer than we had this year influences the temperatures of the discharge waters we can expect to have some excellent trout fishing at this spot well into the future.

When I asked him about the development of trash fish within the dam, a matter that seemed to be of some concern to Boccardy when he was here, Groutage said that the carp population was still high. For this reason he would favor the introduction of northern pike to overcome the situation.

I remember that Boccardy also favored the introduction of northern pike at one time, but for some reason he backed off. I understood at the time it was because of objections raised by New York State. But Groutage says that he doesn't think New York State has any objections to the introduction of this species at the present time.

Another thing I asked him about was the depth at which they were finding oxygen this year. Last year Boccardy could only find to the depth of about 20 feet, which meant that the lower depths of the lake were a veritable fishless desert.

Tom says that their levels this year have varied. At some times they find it to great depths, at other times and places the oxygen content is limited to the top strata. This top strata, consisting of water above the thermocline, varies in depth between 20 and 45 feet.

So up to the present, at least, nothing conclusive has been determined about whether or not there will be some oxygen present at depths that would allow the stocking of lake trout at some time in the future. But as I remember, Boccardy told me that if the amount of nutrients being discharged into the river could be reduced at some time in the future the chances of an improved oxygen condition were exceptionally good.

As he explained it, too many nutrients, because they encourage the growth of plankton, are responsible for the loss of oxygen at the lower levels.

I enjoyed my talk with Tom Groutage very much. There is no question in my mind that he is both dedicated and well informed—a fitting person to take Joe Boccardy's place. But it's going to be interesting to see how this 'West Coast biologist's ideas line up with Boccardy's "Down East" thinking. I'm looking forward to finding out.

Antlerless Deer Permits Go on Sale September 18

County treasurers throughout the commonwealth will begin accepting applications for antlerless deer licenses on Monday, September 18, the Pennsylvania County Treasurers' Association announced yesterday.

The Treasurers' Association, in outlining plans for issuance of antlerless deer licenses for the 1967 hunting season, said treasurers will start issuing the licenses on Monday, November 13. Dates for the antlerless season for 1967 are December 11, 12 and 16.

Each county treasurer decides how applications are to be received and how licenses will be issued for his own county. The treasurers operate within general rules agreed to by the Treasurers' Association, the Pennsylvania Department of Revenue and the Pennsylvania Game Commission.

Procedures for receiving applications and issuing licenses vary from county to county. In Warren County, Treasurer

Jack McCool will accept applications by mail only, and will issue licenses only through the mails. The maximum of six permits will be sold to any one person when applying for others. All applications will be accepted only on and after Monday, September 18 and will be issued on Monday, November 13.

Some County treasurers will issue only one antlerless license to a hunter. Other counties will issue more, but in no case will more than six antlerless licenses be sold to any one person when applying for others.

The cost of an antlerless deer license is $1.15, and can be issued only to a holder of a current resident or non-resident hunting license. If the antlerless license is to be mailed, the remittance should include an additional ten cents for postage. Envelopes containing applications should be marked "Antlerless Deer License Application." Non-residents may not apply for an antlerless deer license before November 13.

Each application for an antlerless deer license must show the 1967-68 hunting license number.

Application forms are available from any license issuing agent, county treasurer or the Pennsylvania Game Commission. An antlerless deer license is valid only in the county in which it is issued.

Only county treasurers are authorized to issue antlerless deer licenses. Each county's quota of the licenses was established by the Game Commission in June. Statewide, 445,400 antlerless licenses were authorized for this year by the Game Commission. The quota is 64,500 more than last year and a new record.

Recent action by the Pennsylvania Legislature and the Governor will make it possible to accommodate state residents who are members of the armed forces on full time active duty or who have been honorably discharged within sixty days of the date of application for an antlerless deer license. These licenses are available only to individuals who could not anticipate military leave and file applications during the regular period. County treasurers may issue licenses to these individuals if the county's quota of antlerless deer licenses has been exhausted.

Injury-Plagued KC Meets Bears Tonite

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Coach Hank Stram said yesterday his Kansas City Chiefs are hurting for able-bodied personnel going into tonight's exhibition game with the Chicago Bears here.

"We have only two healthy running backs," said Stram of his defending American Football League champions. "They are Mike Garrett and Eugene Thomas."

Jerrel Wilson, punter and running back; Aaron Brown, fullback; and Hatch Rosdahl, guard, all have been put on the injury waiver list.

Other backs who are injured or ill are Curtis McClintock, fullback; Bert Coan, running back; and quarterback Pete Beathard.

Ross Edges Palmer for State Title

LEGONIER, Pa. (AP) — Bob Ross of Philadelphia fired a brilliant three-under-par 68 yesterday to nip troubled Arnold Palmer by a stroke and win the Pennsylvania Open Golf Championship.

Ross, 35, shot seven birdies and needed just 28 putts, completing the 36 holes with a 143 total, one-over-par.

Palmer, golf's leading money winner, had a 69 Tuesday for a 144 total despite a muscle spasm in his right shoulder which at first was feared might sideline him.

Palmer, making his first appearance in the tournament since he turned pro in 1954, was first off the tee Tuesday at Laurel Valley and later took off for New York to keep a social engagement prior to the $250,000 Westchester Open.

Ross scored 34-34 over the par 35-36, 7,078-yard course. Palmer birdied four holes in his 69, but bogeyed two of the last three holes. He was stymied by a tree at 16 and hitting into a trap at 16.

The victory was worth $800 to Ross. Palmer donated his $500 second-place money to the Pennsylvania Golf Association.

Oilers Make Limit, Cut Three Rookies

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The Houston Oilers placed three rookies on waivers yesterday to meet the American Football League's limit of 49 players.

Those dropped were Sharron Washington, split end from Northeast Missouri College; Jerry Jolley, defensive back from East Texas State; and Ken Hodge, tight end from Baylor, who threw three touchdown passes in Saturday night's victory over the Oakland Raiders.

Stram said Len Dawson will start at quarterback against the National League Bears.

Johnny Robinson, All-League safety whose leg was injured in the Oakland game, may not play against the Bears, either.

Stram said, and Ed Lothamer, defensive tackle, is hobbled with an ankle injury.

Stram announced Jerry Lamb, rookie flanker, had been put on waivers.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The Miami Dolphins cut 10 players yesterday, including American Football League veteran and Do

Roberson and Fullback Billy Joe.

In reducing his 56-man squad to meet league rules, Coach George Wilson also cut defensive end Laverne Torczon, defensive back Ross O'Hanley and tackle Alphonse Dotson, all veterans, and linebacker Jack Thornton, rookie fullback Gary Tucker, guard Jim Davidson, defensive tackle Steve Maas and defensive end Whit Canale.

Roberson, one of the fastest men in the league, led the AFL in kickoff returns in 1962. Joe, drafted from the Buffalo Bills, was rookie of the year in the AFL in 1963.

DEAN LASSINGER BACK AT HELM

Eisenhower Grid Drills Start Today, 14 Return

By DAN PRATZ
Eisenhower High School opens pre-season football practice today under Head Coach John Lassinger, who must be tagged the "Dean of Warren County Grid Coaches" despite the fact that its only his second season at the helm.

Lassinger's return gives Eisenhower the only "old face"

WBA Elects Evans, Say Liston's OK

RENO, Nev. (AP) — The United States retained control of the World Boxing Association yesterday as Robert Evans was re-elected president, defeating Dr. Alias Cordova, a general surgeon from Panama.

Cordova said the 25 to 6 vote, with one ballot cast for an un-nominated candidate, was done democratically.

He and other Latin Americans said they would retain their membership in the WBA, ending a threat that would bolt the group's 1967 convention if they were "treated badly."

Evans, a Kentucky colonel from Louisville, said Cordova pledged him his support and extended congratulations.

Evans also announced what he said was a clarification in the WBA's position on the status of former heavyweight champion Sonny Liston of Las Vegas.

"As far as the World Boxing Association is concerned," Evans said, "he is under no recorded suspension."

"He can apply to individual state commissions for licensing and can be a contender with no opposition from this organization. No effort is being made to prevent him as far as this group is concerned."

Delegates cheered Liston's presence at the convention and the boxer, smiling and chewing gum, stood and waved to acknowledge the applause. His family was with him.

J. J. Vaughan of the Pennsylvania commission said his group agreed to give Liston a license if he applies for it in his state.

If any state commission suspends Liston or any other fighter in its own jurisdiction, Evans said, the WBA would publish the suspension and ask its entire membership to recognize it. Cassius Clay's dethronement as heavyweight champion figured indirectly for the election for WBA president, but a deeper issue appeared to be what the Latins called a preponderance of U.S. voting power in the WBA.

in the ranks of county head coaches, Warren's Toby Shea is the veteran in length of service, but is new as Dragon mentor as is Joe Giordano at Sheffield and By Welker at Youngsville.

The Knights late start is due to the fact that they play in the Valley Conference which is made up of New York State schools, Eisenhower must abide by New York rules.

Fourteen lettermen will return to the Eisenhower grid, Jeff Lindell will lead the attack as quarterback with the backfield built around juniors Gary Dalrymple and Barton Lohnes and senior Dick Hale.

The line will be formed with seniors Gary Stanton and Tom Bosko, and junior Randy Voty returning to their guard positions. Two seniors, Gary Olson and Harry Critzer will fill the tackle spots. Offensively, senior Mark Briggs will center while junior Charlie Sanders clogs the defensive middle. The Knights will be flanked by senior ends Mark Kane and Dave Alsbaugh.

Andy Bosko, a junior is the only other letterman, Andy received his letter due to a broken arm while running the backfield during practice. Lassinger has different plans this season, though, as he intends to run Bosko in the quarterback slot.

The Knights will have a full staff of veteran coaches with only one new addition, Ron Dunbar will again specialize in defensive safeties, ends and slotbacks. Tom Firth will coach the junior varsity and Mike Schultz the junior high team. Bob Swanson has moved up to the varsity squad and will work with interior linemen. The new addition to the Knights grid staff is Don Johns, head wrestling coach. Johns will drill the backfield and linebackers.

The Knights face a rugged schedule of practice as the rules leave them with no extra sessions before their first game. Evening practice will be the rule for the first week and then the Knights swing into an early morning - picnic lunch - evening workout slate.

The opening game for the Knights will be against a new addition to the schedule, Gowanda. The game will be played under the lights at Gowanda, on Friday, September 15, at 7:30.

'HATE STOKES FIRE'

Tough Vince Admits He Punched Packer

NEW YORK (AP) — Coach Vince Lombardi of Green Bay, calling professional football a game for madmen, admits he struck a Packer player last season because "there is nothing at stake like this."

In an article in the current issue of Look Magazine, co-authored by W. C. Heinz, Lombardi reveals that he pummeled without return an unidentified member of the Packers during a practice session last season.

"We were out on the field and suddenly I was rushing at one of my players and flailing away at him with my fists," disclosed Lombardi, who led Green Bay to the National Football League championship and a victory over Kansas City in the first Super Bowl game last year.

"I am 54 years old now, and he is eight inches taller than I am and outweighs me by 50 pounds," Lombardi continued.

"If he had brought both of his hands down on me, he probably could have driven me into the ground, but he just stood there, warding off my blows because he understands me."

"He's one of the most likable men on our squad. That's his problem. He has all the size and ability to be a great one, but he loves everybody. In a game, they beat on him. Everybody whacks him, and he laughs."

"I guess I was trying to get him to hate me enough to take it out on the opposition, because to play this game, you must have that fire in you, and there is nothing that stokes fire like hate."

Lombardi, former Army backfield coach under Earl "Red" Blaik, credits the latter for much of his success. "I learned more from him than I have ever learned from any other man," Lombardi wrote.

"One of the things Blaik used to say was: 'To beat the Navy, you have to hate the Navy.'"

"I am a religious man," Lombardi added, "and yet each week, as I talk about our opponents, I almost snarl against them. Why?"

"It is as simple as this: 'When Bob Jeter, our right cornerback, has to play against Baltimore's Ray Berry, or Herb Adderley, at our other corner, is going against Detroit's Pat Studstill, the hate has to build layer upon layer, or Jeter will not have the tenacity to defeat the great sideline pattern of Berry's or Adderley, to stay with that great speed or deep move of Studstill's.'"

Oiler Grid Vet Tolar Quits Game

HOUSTON (AP) — Fullback Charlie Tolar, one of five remaining members of the first American Football League champion Houston Oilers team, announced his retirement yesterday.

Tolar, 29, underwent surgery for removal of a bone chip in a knee last January and the knee failed to respond.

Tolar was the only Oiler and one of six AFL players ever to gain more than 1,000 yards rushing in a single season. In 244 carries he gained 1,012 yards in 1962.

Tolar joined the Oilers as a free agent in 1960 after playing college football at Northwest Louisiana State.

The only other players left on the team that won the championship in 1960-61 are quarterback Rocky Lee, defensive end Don Floyd, defensive back Jim Norton and guard Bob Talamini.

Earlier in the day the Oilers had announced placing three rookies on waivers while reducing their squad to the AFL limit of 49 players.

Those cut were Sharron Washington, split end from Northeast Missouri State; Jerry Jolley, defensive back from East Texas State; and Ken Hodge, tight end from Baylor University.

Oiler General Manager Don Klusterman said Tolar will remain with the club in a scouting capacity.

Sports of The Times Arthur Daley The Forgotten Man

NEW YORK — When Frank Gifford retired from the Giants before the 1961 season, Charlie Conerly not only lost his favorite passing target but also his roommate. The whimsical Kyle Rote had long been kidding Giff about the advantages that came to any pass catcher who roomed with a quarterback. Suddenly he began to wonder if his constant flippancy was more than an idle jest. So he spoke to Coach Alie Sherman.

"How about rooming me with Charlie?" said Kyle.

"Okay," said Alie. "You can room with him or with Y. A. Tittle."

"I'll take Charlie," said Kyle. "He's been my friend for a long time. Tittle is new around here and I barely know him."

For weeks Tittle was without a roommate, a lonely figure who almost was resented by the intensely loyal Giant players, a clannish group whose pep was the aging Conerly. Then Wellington Mara made another slick trade, obtaining Del Shofner from the Los Angeles Rams. He became Tittle's roommate almost by default.

The season had not progressed far before Y. A. was throwing bombs to the lean greyhound of an end, Shofner. And when Y. A. wasn't throwing long to him he was throwing short on the square-out patterns both of them fancy. That's when Kyle's sense of humor impelled him to make another observation.

"I guess I picked the wrong quarterback as a roomie," he said.

This was a mild exaggeration for the sake of a gag. But Shofner did catch 68 passes for 1,125 yards and 11 touchdowns, re-establishing himself as one of the most gifted receivers in the league. Rote did mighty well himself with 53 catches for 305 yards and seven touchdowns. But when he also retired, Del unmistakably became Tittle's favorite receiver. It figured, though, Tittle threw precision passes and Shofner ran precision patterns. They were sensational as the Giants won three straight divisional championships.

But old age caught up with Y. A. and ulcers caught up with his roommate in the disastrous season of 1964. Shofner was out for the last half of the year and then became the forgotten man of the ensemble for the next two seasons. A year ago he was used so little that he caught only three passes for 19 yards. The end was nigh. Or was it?

When the Giants played their first exhibition game with the Atlanta Falcons to a 10-10 tie a week ago, the offensive hero was Shofner. He caught four passes from Fran Tarkenton for 64 yards and again he looked like the octopus-armed swiftie who once had terrorized all the pass defenders in the league. It's still too early to know how complete is Del's re-emergence from exile but fanatical Giant followers were delighted by the performance of their one-time favorite.

What happened to Shofner in the interval? Has he been in Sherman's doghouse? Where has he been? What tumbled him from superstar status to the role of a generally ignored extra?

"A lot of things entered into it," said Del in his mild Texas drawl. "After I left the team with ulcers in the middle of the 1964 season, my weight dropped to 165 pounds. When I reported to camp the next July I was up to 195 and feeling healthy. But Tittle had retired and Earl Morrall was the new quarterback."

"Before we had a chance to get used to each other I found myself hobbled by one injury after another, none serious but each enough to interfere with my progress. Meanwhile Homer Jones developed into an overnight sensation. Morrall liked to throw to him and Joe Morrison and Aaron Thomas, I never felt I was in Sherman's doghouse. For two years nothing worked out my way. But now..."

His voice trailed off and his blue eyes seemed to envision brighter horizons.

"I never as much as met Tarkenton until a month ago," he continued. "Apparently we hit it off from the start. I liked to run square-outs and he likes to throw them. Nothing gives a receiver more satisfaction than to have a passer who continually looks in his direction."

Even when Tittle didn't name Shofner as his primary receiver, Y. A. invariably looked for Del when the main target was covered. Conerly used the same system with Gifford and Route or Rote and Gifford. As for Tarkenton, he hasn't been around long enough to disclose whether or not he has a favorite.

Just as Del's injury gave Homer Jones his chance in 1965, an injury to Homer opened the way for Shofner's return along the glory road. And Del is going at it with single-minded intensity, working an extra half hour with Fran each day after training camp practice has ended.

Del won't have to worry about Tarkenton's roomie as a pass-catching rival. Fran is paired with Larry Vargo. He's a line packer.

MEDAL OF HONOR WINNER

State Offices Attacked as Unnecessary

HARRISBURG (AP) — Mrs. Grace M. Sloan, state auditor general, said yesterday she has "serious reservations" about the need for "branch governor's offices" in Pennsylvania.

Mrs. Sloan, a Democrat, made her views known in a letter to Perrin C. Hamilton, state secretary of property and supplies, which approved leases to operate offices in York and Scranton.

Although she approved a $1,500-a-year lease for the York office and $3,600 for the Scranton office, Mrs. Sloan said she did so without fully agreeing with the program.

The Bureau of Employment Security, Mrs. Sloan said, operates 113 offices throughout the state.

"If the offices of the Bureau of Employment Security are being properly utilized and publicized," she said, "then I fail to see the need for the 'branch offices' envisioned by the governor and for which additional expenditures are being made of taxpayers' money."

Republican Gov. Shafer created the branch office program by executive order late last month.

Army Will Study Riot Training

By GAYLOR SHAW
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army is making a detailed study "to determine the necessary revisions" in riot-control training it gives troops on active duty, the Pentagon disclosed yesterday.

An estimated 500,000 National Guardsmen already are receiving stepped-up training in new ways to combat street violence, and one source reported some of the 1,442,479 men on active duty in the Army were getting similar instructions.

But the Pentagon, in response to a query, said "within the last 90 days there has been no increase in the training of men on active duty."

"Based on an analysis of the riots, though," the spokesman added, "the Department of the Army is conducting an extensive study to determine the necessary revisions to active-duty training."

The spokesman gave no target date for completion of the study, nor would he say who ordered it. He said the Navy, Air Force and Marines are not affected because "they do not have this as a specific responsibility."

Troops on active duty now receive up to 24 hours of riot-control and related training a year, National Guardsmen had been receiving as little as six hours a year until this month when an increase to at least 32 hours annually was ordered.

The Army has completed some of the spadework if it decides to beef up training of regular troops. Army instructors prepared a 16-part series of lessons plans the National Guard is using in its crash training program.

Both the Army and National Guard Bureau refused to release the lesson plans, but The Associated Press obtained a full set from other sources. The tone of the lectures is brisk and businesslike.

"We want to prevent bloodshed," one lesson plan says. "However, if the time should come when we have no choice but to apply more extreme measures, we must be ready, know our limitations, and be prepared to justify our actions."

Guard units are being taught new techniques in breaking up mobs, flushing out hidden snipers, quickly apprehending looters and protecting key installations such as hospitals and banks.

Commanders, meanwhile, are receiving an extra 16 hours training on such topics as application of the principles of war to riot-control agents such as tear gas.

Ky to Appear With Rival Candidates

(c) N.Y. Times News Service
SAIGON — Premier Nguyen Cao Ky plans to make his first joint appearance with rival civilian candidates within the next few days, a highly placed Vietnamese source said last night. The exact date was withheld for security reasons.

Ky is the vice presidential running mate of Lt. Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu, chief of state, who heads the military ticket in the Sept. 3 election.

Since the campaign opened Aug. 3, the two military candidates have boycotted the official joint hinterland campaign tour, revised to include 12 cities outside Saigon. At least eight of the 10 civilian tickets have regularly participated at each stop.

The civilian candidates have repeatedly charged Thieu and Ky with violating campaign regulations by campaigning on their own.

'Digger' Defines Nature of Hippies

By STEPHEN A. O. GOLDEN
(C) N.Y. Times News Service

SAN FRANCISCO — One question is asked more than any other by the people who have "dropped out" on the Haight-Ashbury. It is "What is a hippie?" and the answer could also be the answer to why they have dropped out.

Ron Thal, co-owner with his brother Jay of the Psychedelic shop, has what he calls a "document" that defines a hippie as he wants to be defined.

The document was written by Billy Digger, one of the first diggers of the hippie movement. A digger works and organizes so that the hippie community can have more freedom and not depend on the "straight world."

Billy Digger calls hippies "free form-novas" and "an automation 1916, 1942 computer acid 1943 T.S. 1938 Shapiro 1952 1942 missile 1945 atom bomb youth explosion 67. Always. Infinite. Forever. Now. And changing."

More to the point, perhaps, he says that disillusionment with the social structure, educational system and de facto brotherhood all contribute to making a hippie.

In the paper, Billy Digger writes of a school teacher talking to a classroom "cramped with sitting, suffocating children."

She says: "Don't talk, children, sit there and listen to me for the next six hours, for the next five days, the next 40 weeks. If you successfully pass through the first eight years of imprisonment, you can do four more years in high school."

Then, if you are intelligent, fortunate, and have money enough, you can do four more years in a university. Then you can graduate and proudly be imprisoned in offices, factories, and institutions throughout the world until, at long last, you are 65.

"Then you are free to take off more than two in a row," Billy Digger goes on to offer an "honest alternative," it is: "In a free form, the child's natural curiosity could flow."

And to Billy Digger the free form would preclude making a child study with other children, under one teacher, all day.

The hippies, therefore, have rejected the biological family form and live in communes, or extended families, with each family a tribe.

"The 1919 Space 007 Betty Crocker Miss Clairol family institution is a death form," according to Billy Digger. "Marriage, responsibility for children, alimony or death. Let's do away with the meaningless, unnecessary."

"The basic unit of the culture," he says, "would be the commune instead of a house with one man and one woman in it."

"The commune would not be owned by one person or one group but would be open to all people at all times, to do whatever they wish to do in it."

"There would be marriage contracts, but people could still have huge ceremonies when they meet someone they dug. And if someone dug a different person every day, he could have a different ceremony every day."

"All children, from the moment they were born, would be the responsibility of everyone, not only of the blood mother or father."

"In the Haight-Ashbury during the last year, there was none of the shut-in paranoid one-man-and-one-woman-and-children family structure. Most people lived in communes because they were open and fun."

"People taught other people what they knew whether it was about guitars, printing presses, dope, confronting slum lords, cooking, confronting police, raising children, painting, sex, etc."

"Children were confronted with multiple character images rather than just their mother's and father's. For most people, it was stimulating, more open, more knowledge-giving, more self-expressive than any other family form they had lived in."

The communes can range from two-room "crash pads," which anyone can enter, to houses where an extended family lives. Rents can range from $90 for the pad to $210 for the three-floor 11-room house.

Humble Discontinues 'Cracked' Gas Game

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Barry Tumpson, the law student who's hoping for a fat windfall from a gasoline company giveaway game he says he's cracked, returned home Tuesday with a bulging briefcase a little lighter.

Tumpson, 25, left off 887 cards he figures are worth $4,859 with a Hoboken, N. J., validating agency Monday. He still has about 2,000 more worth a potential $15,000.

"Now we go through the cards and validate whether they're winners," said Noel Schwartz, a vice president of U.S. Testing Co.

The cards were given out at random by attendants at Humble Oil and Refining Co. stations in Pittsburgh.

But the cards aren't given out any more.

Humble said Tumpson had nothing to do with the decision to halt the game. They gave no other explanation.

Schwartz said after validation, which takes about 10 days, the cards will be forwarded to Marden Kane of New York, the agency which created the game. The game is played on a small card with 15 circles, each circle covered with a grey film which can be scraped off. If the player uncovers 15 straight tiny tiger tails or three consecutive heads the card can be redeemed for $5, $25 or $50, depending on the figure hidden under another dot in the middle of the card.

Man Said to be Commuter Bandit Is Freed on Bond

PITTSBURGH (AP) — William Zeller, the Pittsburgh grocer the FBI believes is the "Commuter Bandit" walked out of jail yesterday on bond raised by his family and friends. The $25,000 for his federal bond was posted at the U.S. Marshall office.

Zeller, 52, was arrested June 23 and charged with the May 17 holdup of a suburban bank where $10,000 was taken. Since that time he has been indicted for 11 bank and loan office robberies amounting to over $119,000. Zeller has pleaded innocent to all the charges.

WARREN, PA., WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 23, 1967

Heavy Weekend Rains Show Little Effect on Reservoir

The Allegheny Reservoir Monday showed little effect of heavy weekend rains which ranged on the watersheds upwards of an inch to 2.25 at the dam, according to Jack Ewers, who has the job of managing the Kinzua Dam for the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

Ewers said, however, the present 1,327 elevation feet is considerably above what would be normal at this time.

The manager said many phases of the multiple use of the reservoir are in evidence. He explained the rate of flow has maintained the river level through normally dry periods and that further flow from the dam has been regulated to temperatures highly desirable for warm water fish and not too warm for cold water fish such as trout.

Normally the reservoir would be well under the present level, but unusually heavy rainfall this year has kept the levels high. The draw-down to winter pool level will be gradual, according to Ewers, and the 1,292 feet level will probably be reached later than anticipated.

Recreation is actually of minor importance in functioning the dam. But the status of that minor importance is seen through records of public visits.

Through the first six months of this year, using one parking lot only as result of the Penelec construction on the $42 million hydro-electric unit, there were 336,100 visitors. As of Monday the number was in excess of 400,000 and with the autumn leaf season traffic there is little doubt but what the Army Corps overlook will attract half a million visitors this year.

Ewers said the Willow Bay recreational area, open on a limited basis has had a count of 45,000. Roper Hollow has had 14,000 while other areas have also had a high visitor count. Construction is advancing in all areas and the visitor influx growing.

No person charged with violating this Subsection A shall be convicted if he produces in court or at the office of the arresting officer, an operator's license or learner's permit heretofore issued to him and valid in Pennsylvania at the time of his arrest.

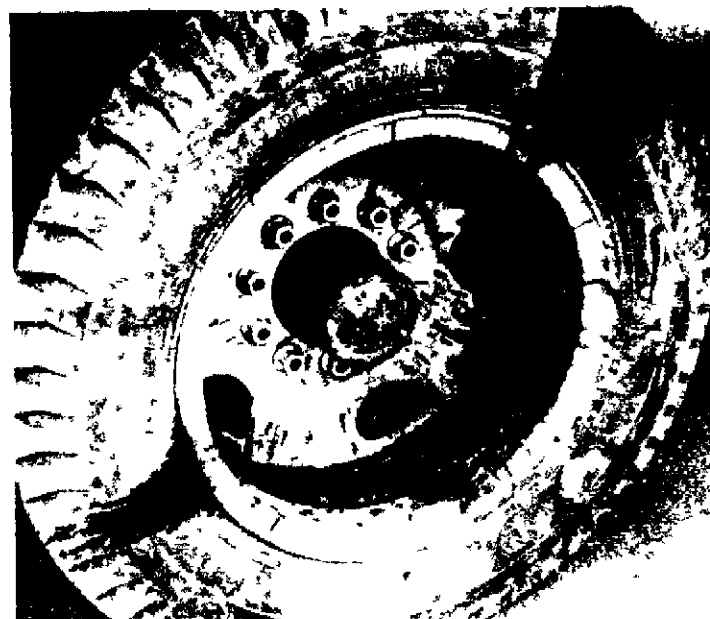

Subsection B—No person who has been issued a restrictive license to operate a motor vehicle or tractor in violation of such restrictions.

BUS INSPECTION TIME

State police of the Warren substation this week are carrying out their annual mission, careful inspection of the school buses which will soon be transporting Warren County youngsters back to the classroom. A thorough check is made according to Motor Vehicle Codes specifications. Here Mrs. Clarence Carter of Bear Lake with Joseph Reitoky and son, Danny of Pittsfield, watch as Trooper Paul Brown and Cpl. George Martin measure the width of tire tread on one bus. Grease dripping from the wheel, at right, however hazardous, need not be corrected under the inspection regulations. Should the wheel catch fire or lock, police said, there could be serious repercussions. (Photos by Mansfield)

AT COLUMBUS

Postmastership Becomes More Tangled

The maze of red tape surrounding the long-delayed postmastership for Columbus becomes even more of a tangled mess.

The Corry Evening Journal is continuing its efforts to find an answer to the situation and in a letter received Saturday from Senator Hugh Scott (R), the Journal learned that at least one facet of the appointment baffles even the senator.

Scott's correspondence appeared in the Corry paper Monday in the following story (a reprint).

The senator looked into the matter in two areas — the Civil Service Commission and the Post Office Department.

Both pointed out to Sen. Scott that Michael Kuzma had appeared as the number one eligible as a result of a Civil Service exam here four years ago, was nominated for the post by President Johnson and was in the process of being recommended for Senate confirmation by Sen. Joseph Clark, Pennsylvania Democrat, when the whole thing was reversed in favor of another man.

So, instead of the Republican Michael Kuzma getting the Columbus job, a Democrat, Lloyd N. McCray, has been nominated by the President who withdrew his initial nomination of Kuzma to make the switch.

McCray apparently was overlooked on the list of three eligibles which always appears after a Civil Service exam.

So a new list was published and McCray's name appeared in the number one spot despite the fact that he had scored far lower than Kuzma. In the Postal Department's answer to the inquiry of Sen. Scott, Howard R. Barker, deputy assistant postmaster general, said that "in cases such as this, the Civil Service Commission when issuing a corrected certificate, places the initially missing person's name at the head of the list."

Sen. Scott, before forwarding the results of his investigation to The Journal, placed a question mark beside the paragraph in which this statement appears. He obviously could not understand the procedure.

Here are the letters in answer to the queries from Sen. Scott's office:

Post Office Department
Assistant Postmaster General
Bureau of Operations
Washington, D. C. 20260
Aug. 11, 1967

Honorable Hugh Scott
United States Senate
Washington, D. C. 20510
Dear Senator:

This will acknowledge your letter of July 28, 1967, with enclosures, concerning the appointment of a postmaster at Columbus, Pennsylvania.

On May 7, 1964, the Civil Service Commission issued a certificate of eligibles containing the following names:

Michael Kuzma (10-pt. vet. pref.-noncomp.)
Mrs. Gladys L. Volk (Acting Postmaster)

Mrs. Fay L. Tressler
The Civil Service Commission on December 3, 1965, was notified of the Department's selection of Mr. Kuzma and he was nominated by the President on January 28, 1966.

Subsequently, the Department was informed by the Civil Service Commission that in processing this case it had been discovered that the Commission inadvertently failed to include the name of Mr. Lloyd N. McCray in the No. 3 position on the certificate from which Mr. Kuzma was selected for appointment. Applicant McCray made a rating of 86.00, including a 5-point veteran preference, which placed his name in the No. 3 position on the register. However, it was not on the certificate issued to the Department.

The failure of the Civil Service Commission to certify Mr. McCray's name to the Department meant that, through no fault of his, he could not be considered for appointment. It was therefore decided to withdraw Mr. Kuzma's nomination and this was done on July 21, 1966.

In cases such as this, the Civil Service Commission when issuing a "corrected" certificate, places the person's name in the No. 1 position. Thus, on August 11, 1966, an amended certificate was issued containing the following names:

Lloyd N. McCray (5-pt. vet. pref.)
Michael Kuzma (10-pt. vet. pref.-noncomp.)

Mrs. Gladys L. Volk (Acting Postmaster)

On August 17, 1966, the Department notified the Civil Service Commission of the selection of Mr. McCray. He was nominated October 4, 1966, and re-nominated on June 6, 1967. It is hoped that this information will help to clarify this case. If you still feel that the matter warrants further attention, it will be appreciated if you will contact the Civil Service Commission since that agency has entire jurisdiction in the preparation and issuance of certificates of eligibles.

Sincerely yours,
Howard R. Barker
Deputy Assistant Postmaster General

United States
Civil Service Commission
Bureau of Recruiting and Examining
Washington, D. C. 20415
Aug. 16, 1967

Honorable Hugh Scott
United States Senate
Washington, D. C. 20510
Dear Senator Scott:

This refers to an inquiry received from your office by telephone relative to the register of eligibles for postmaster at Columbus, Pennsylvania, an office of the third class.

At the request of the Post Office Department, an examination was held on September 14, 1963, for postmaster at Columbus and a register of eight eligibles was established on May 7, 1964. At that time a certificate of the top three eligibles was issued to the Post Office Department for its consideration in making a selection for appointment as follows:

Michael Kuzma, 93.00 (including 10-point noncompensable disability preference)
Mrs. Gladys L. Volk, 87.50 (nonveteran)
Mrs. Fay L. Tressler, 80.50 (nonveteran)

On December 3, 1965, the Department reported the selection of Mr. Michael Kuzma, the No. 1 eligible, Mr. Kuzma was nominated by the President on January 28, 1966, and the nomination was withdrawn from the Senate on July 21, 1966.

Subsequent to the selection of Mr. Kuzma, it was discovered that an error had been made in establishing the register of eligibles. Mr. Lloyd N. McCray who had made a rating of 86.00 (including 5-point preference) in the examination was placed

No. 4 on the register and his name was not included on the certificate issued on May 4, 1964. His name and rating should have been placed in the No. 3 position on the register. He, therefore, lost an opportunity to be considered for appointment.

When the error was discovered the Post Office Department was so informed. The Department was so informed. The Department was also informed that in view of the selection of Mr. Kuzma, an amended certificate, including Mr. McCray's name, would not be issued unless requested by the Department.

It is the policy of the Commission to place the name of an eligible who lost opportunity for consideration for appointment at the head of the register until he has received the opportunity he lost provided he continues to be eligible in all respects under the terms of the examination announcements. If the register is terminated before he receives the opportunity lost, his name will be entered at the head of any successor register for the position until he has received the opportunity lost.

On August 9, 1966, after Mr. Kuzma's nomination was withdrawn from the Senate, the Post Office Department advised us that his selection was revoked and it requested that an amended certificate of eligibles be issued. An amended certificate was therefore issued on August 11, 1966, inasmuch as Mr. McCray's name was placed at the head of the register because he had lost an opportunity for consideration for appointment, his name was placed No. 1 on the certificate. The names and ratings as they appeared on the certificate are as follows:

Lloyd N. McCray, 86.00 (including 5-point preference)
Michael Kuzma, 93.00 (including 10-point noncompensable disability preference)
Mrs. Gladys L. Volk, 87.50 (nonveteran)

On August 17, 1966, the Department reported the selection of Mr. McCray. He was nominated by the President on August 17, 1966, and again on June 6, 1967. His appointment has not yet been confirmed by the Senate.

Sincerely yours,
Wilber A. Seitz

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband and I have a nice home, well-furnished, a new car and money in the bank. Our two sons have finished college, are happily married and doing well. We have excellent jobs and our combined income makes it possible for us to live comfortably.

So why am I writing to Ann Landers? Because suddenly we find life empty and boring. We have no goals, nothing to struggle for. We were much happier when we had to worry about house payments, taxes, mortgages and tuition bills.

Are we different or does this happen to all couples in the twilight years? We need answers. — THE W'S

DEAR W's: You need more than answers. You need to get out of your furled, insulated world and become involved with some causes or projects or people to whom you can devote your time, energy and your money. Contentment does not come from lapping up creature comforts and taking life easy. But this you already know, since this is the thrust of the problem as you have expressed it. Get busy and find out how to make your lives count for something. The world needs what you have to offer. And you need to become dues-paying members of the human race.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Several weeks ago, three of us (all college students) borrowed a buddy's car. I was driving. Unfortunately, we had an accident. Nobody was hurt but the damage to our buddy's car amounted to $175. There was no insurance so the money had to come out of my pocket. I think the two fellows with me should help with the repair bill. They say, "No, you were driving."

Is this fair? Answer in the paper because if my folks see a letter from you and find out I had another accident, I'll get grounded for life. — BIG D

DEAR D.: Another accident, eh? It sounds as if you've got quite a history, fella. Maybe you SHOULD be grounded until you take some driving lessons, and I am not kidding.

First, I'd like to make it clear that anyone who drives without insurance is a moron. Second, you don't say who was at fault but I have an idea you were. In this case, your passengers should not be expected to pitch in. If someone had hit you and you were blameless I'd agree with you, but not under these circumstances.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband plays ball with the "boys" (about age 40) one night a week and comes home around 2:00 A.M. Other nights he gets home anywhere from 7:30 to 11 P.M. He hasn't had dinner with me and our four teen-agers in three years.

This man has never brought home an extra dime for overtime and he hasn't had a raise in 10 years. I've been typing papers at home so we can pay our bills. Should I wake up and smell the coffee? — QUIET DESPERATION

DEAR QUIET — Or are you unconscious? Did you just notice that your husband hasn't had dinner with his children in three years? It's going to be difficult to get him to stop doing whatever he's doing — after all this time. You need more help than I can offer. I suggest a professional counselor. Yes, I know, he won't go. A New You

Neck Knack

In class, I'm distracted by the girl who sits in front of me. Her neck doesn't match the rest of her. Her face is nice and pink, but her neck is a completely different color. Shouldn't everything be coordinated? Maybe she'll read this and take the hint.

Ann O'D. You're very observant. . . everything should come up rosy. Either the girl is wearing makeup that's too far away from her natural coloring. . . or else she's scrubbing up fore and not aft. If there is such a contrast, the base should be continued around the neck, coated with talc so it won't rub off, then blotted to remove any excess.

Ear lobes are another forgotten area. They should be attended to along with the rest of the face.

LUSHER LASHES The idea of having long, luxurious fake lashes intrigues me, but I'm afraid to try them. Is there a special trick to wearing false eyelashes?

Betty M. No trick, Betty, but practice makes perfect. These are some tips that might help.

Don't put more glue on the lash base than you need. If the lash doesn't "sit" where it should, take it off, remove the glue and start again. Try to apply just above your own lashes.

Keep lashes clean between wearings. . . many can be washed gently in soapy water.

For the prettiest results if your eyes are too close together, give the illusion of width by applying the lashes further away from your nose.

If your eyes are too wide apart, move the lashes nearer the bridge of your nose.

Fake lashes can be fun and glamorous looking, but I don't think they should be worn to school or work. For daytime glamour, you can achieve longer looking lashes by applying a few coats of mascara.

POSTURE PRECEPTS I'm studying to be an actress, and working my way up currently as a prop girl. Although I'm strong and healthy, some of the sets and props I move are heavy and I'm afraid that all this picking, pushing, carrying and shoving may strain or damage my posture permanently. What do you think?

Darlene K. Continuous strenuous effort can bend over the broadest back and shoulders. Your best bets are: To graduate to handling out programs. . . to cultivate the friendship of a strong-armed stage-hand. . . or to take some tips from stevedores.

Always approach a lifting or moving task with knees bent and relaxed, spine straight. It's only when you stiffen knees and back that you're likely to strain.

When you carry bulky, or heavy props, be sure you distribute the weight evenly. If something seems too heavy, don't force it. Do get help!

Emily Wilkens welcomes letters, but cannot undertake to answer each one. She will use questions in her column of general interest. Address your letters to Emily Wilkens, c/o this newspaper.

MISS DEB

answers questions about Junior Miss etiquette, grooming and interests.

Q. I am sure to be crowned "Frump of the pool" this summer. Bikinis may be "in," but not when your tummy sticks out like mine does. What kind of bathing suit can I wear to hide my worst feature?

A. No bathing suit will hide major figure faults, unless you'd like to go back to the bloomer suits of the 1920's! You can minimize a tummy, though, by wearing a one piece sarong style or a one piece suit with overall shirring. For real results, try exercise. If you are generally overweight, see your doctor about a diet. With regular exercise and good eating habits you'll see a change before summer is gone!

Q. I got a comb and brush as a birthday gift. They're so pretty and clean compared to my old ones, I hate to use them. How can I keep these clean and new looking?

A. A sparkling clean comb and brush are essential to shining, smooth hair! If the old ones look dirty, they probably transfer the problem to your hair — so throw them out — and use the gift set. Keep your comb and brush clean and looking new in one of several ways. Soak them in warm water and baking soda, warm water and a little ammonia, or just use detergent and water. Rub the comb and brush together in the water to be sure they get really clean. For a feminine touch, rinse them in clear water with a few drops of cologne added. Then dry with Kleenex paper towels. And, don't forget, cleaning them regularly is what counts!

Hints From Heloise

For Tired Housewives

DEAR FOLKS:
Now don't laugh! I want to talk to all of you tired housewives who iron pillowcases.

I agree with you . . . they should be ironed. I even like them lightly starched. But some days we just don't have the time.

And guess what? I found a new easy way and I think I should pass it along to you. If it doesn't get you off to a running start, I'll sure be surprised.

I have box springs and mattresses like most of us do these days. So when I take my pillowcases out of the drier—and I never let them OVER dry—I immediately fold them and carry them into the bedroom. I lift up a corner of the mattress and flop the folded pillowcases between the box spring and mattress!

I just let them stay there until the following week. I have found this to be the most energy-free pressing job you can find! Put's a lovely crease in them, too.

I am now using this method to press my sheets, too. Imagine it?

After all, we strip a bed and do the laundry each week. It's far easier than ironing, for us to lift up a corner of the mattress. We've got to anyway.

Just put a foot on the box spring and hold that mattress up with your knee. Put that folded sheet and those pillowcases which belong to that very bed under it. Then forget about them until the next changing time.

This is the greatest. Not only do you save time by not ironing them, but they are right there when you are ready to change that bed. Saves walking to the linen closet each week and according to how many beds you have, lots of closet space.

You might try it, gals. I know you'll love it. That's the way I keep mine now.

Heloise

DEAR HELOISE:

Here's what I did with one of my old formals:

I made a fancy dust ruffle for our baby's crib.

The full skirt of the dress made the actual ruffle. An inexpensive piece of cotton, which I purchased in the same shade, is perfect under the mattress where it doesn't show.

The dust ruffle is both decorative and useful since it provides hidden, extra storage space beneath the crib.

"Faithful Reader"

DEAR HELOISE:

Here's a tip if you have leftover dips from a party.

With the onion or garlic dip, I added just a little milk and mayonnaise to make it thin enough to pour over a tossed salad.

It makes a very tasty dressing that is a little different. Try it when you have leftover dips. You'll like it, too.

Mrs. Paul D'Anna

DEAR HELOISE:

When using a few curlers to pep up a hair-do, or between shampoos of the whole head . . . instead of wetting the hair, simply wet each roller. Give it two or three shakes to remove the excess water, then roll as usual.

The dry hair will immediately stick to the roller and will roll perfectly and dry sooner for a nice touch-up hair-do.

Helen Keith

DEAR HELOISE:

When my liquid make-up gets low in the bottle, I pour in a small amount of hand lotion and shake real good. It works well and stretches my make-up. This way a bottle will last me a little longer.

Lina McCallon

DEAR HELOISE:
Being an Army wife I must "think moveable."

I keep my in-season shoes in a plastic holder with a heavy clothes hanger at the top. (The hanger makes moving easier.)

My out-of-season shoes are stored in shoe boxes stacked at one end of the closet. I label each box on one end for winter shoes, and the other end for summer shoes.

Then when the season changes, I change shoes in the boxes and turn the appropriate label in view.

Lois Powell

DEAR FOLKS:

About a year ago a sweet woman wrote in and told me to buy a box of whole-mixed pickling spices. She suggested I keep it on hand in case I ever ran out of a certain spice so that I could grab the kind I wanted out of this mixture in emergencies.

Well, I did and it has been a lifesaver.

Once in a while I run out of bay leaves, clove, whole black pepper, chilies, etc. All I have to do is pick out the spice I need from the mixed spices.

The brand I bought has eleven different spices in it. This would be especially good for new brides just starting in housekeeping or for small families who don't use a lot of spices.

Since it all comes in one box there won't be eleven different jars or cans cluttering up the cabinet.

Might try buying a box next time you're grocery shopping. It's not expensive and sure comes in handy.

Heloise

DEAR HELOISE:

When cleaning up that teenager's room, have a "where does this go" sack or box.

Any items found under furniture or laying on the dresser just place in the sack or box. Then the items can quickly be sorted and put away by their owners.

This is also a good idea when helping out a sick friend by cleaning her house.

She can go through the box at her leisure or have members of her family put the items away.

Pauline

DEAR HELOISE:

I too, have found a wonderful use for these little leftover plastic pill bottles.

I use mine for sharing my flower seeds with special friends.

I always slip a small piece of paper inside each bottle with the name of the flower which can be read through the plastic.

Mrs. L. H. Holland

DEAR HELOISE:

Daily workouts for competitive swimming necessitates our three children washing their hair each day.

Each one takes a "plastic lemon" with shampoo in it to the pool. I remove the plug in the end, fill it with shampoo that I buy in large bargain bottles and replace the screw-top. The "lemon" is small enough to carry in a jacket pocket or purse and will not break or spill.

One child needs a special shampoo, so I put hers in a "plastic lime."

I now find myself placing one in each of the bathrooms for convenience.

Safety Rules For Women

"Don't make it easy for a potential thief or would-be attacker by ignoring the ABC's of simple protection" author Gerold Frank tells women in an AP news feature. The following simple rules may someday save valuables and even your life:

1. Never leave your door unlatched even for a few minutes. Chain and bolt it when you are inside. When out for even just a few minutes lock the door and take the key with you. 2. When installing a safety chain on your door, it's best not to use the key-controlled safety lock. 3. Even if you have arranged for a repairman, don't admit him until identity has been established to your satisfaction. 4. If a caller tells you that he was sent by the superintendent to check for any indoor repairs do not admit him until first calling the superintendent, or owner of the apartment; call the police if the superintendent has no knowledge of anyone "checking" apartments. 5. If you live alone in an apartment house with mailbox or directory in the lobby, it is wise to use only your first initial with your last name; that way the intruder will be doubtful if the occupant is male or female. 6. Do not answer your apartment house buzzer when it buzzes unexpectedly unless you have some definite way to positively identify the caller; if you have an intercom system make sure the person is identified to your satisfaction. (Editors note: It helps if you have a dog.)

Opening lead: Deuce of ♠
A brilliant yet nevertheless logical shot by East at the outset of the campaign, administered a fatal salvo to South's four spade contract.

West opened the deuce of hearts, the nine was played from dummy and East put in the jack which won the trick. He paused before continuing, to assess the defensive prospects.

There was significant information to be gathered from the first trick. West's lead of the deuce marked him with a maximum of four hearts, and therefore indicated that the declarer had at least three. When East's jack held, it revealed that his partner had the king. This fact prompted East to conclude that South had the balance of the missing high card strength including both minor suit aces—else where were the ingredients for the latter's opening bid?

In order to defeat the contract then, the defense must take three heart tricks in addition to the ace of spades. In order to accomplish this end, the dummy's trumps have to be removed while East still retains his high spade, for once that key control is gone, South may be expected to take full charge of the situation.

At trick two, East found the one lead to sink his opponent's ship—the deuce of spades. South was in, however, he was unable to launch an effective campaign. If he continued to draw trump, East would win the next trick with the ace of spades and proceed to cash two more hearts. If the declarer tried to take an immediate heart discard on the dummy's clubs, West would ruff the third round with an otherwise worthless trump and return a heart to score the setting trick.

Your Horoscope

By Frances Drake

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars. FOR WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 23, 1967.
ARIES (March 21 to April 20)—You never do your best when you procrastinate then have to hurry. This procedure brings tenseness to situations, disturbs others. Remember this now and clear the atmosphere for steady, sturdy going.
TAURUS (April 21 to May 21)—Clerks, housewives, students, secretaries and factory workers may have to knuckle down to a more even pace and stress more accuracy. You know your own responsibilities: Fulfill them. All: Work conscientiously, calmly.
GEMINI (May 22 to June 21)—Do not look for the easy way but rather for the soundest one, which will give your talents room to grow and to serve as they so ably can. Emphasize clarity.
CANCER (June 22 to July 23)—Routine may tend to irk. Do not let it. Neither be overanxious, nor strain to accomplish more than healthfully possible. Adopt improved methods.
LEO (July 24 to August 23)—Clever management could be a prime factor in your success now. One victory can start a chain of them going. Keep fit, mentally, physically.
VIRGO (August 24 to September 23)—Hold that unjust verdict! Give things more careful thought. There is so much you can do to sway opinion that it is your duty to reason all matters out beforehand.
LIBRA (September 24 to October 23)—Stand up to situations, keep promises, put up an honest front. Also have a try at a new method that takes the eye. System helps order and order prevents needless errors.

SCORPIO (October 24 to November 23)—Better be slow and not give vent to a hasty word or act than be swift and regret it. Show Scorpio's versatility, but modestly. Brighten the dull spots.
SAGITTARIUS (November 23 to December 21)—You dislike some things intensely, as do most of us. But do not show it too readily else you shall reap friction, squabbles.
CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 20)—Better-than-average aspects. Look back at your record thoroughly. Where can you inject a new, refreshing note, better strategy?
AQUARIUS (January 21 to February 19)—Don't let good chances pass you by now. Emphasize your talents and be optimistic about the day. It is brighter than you may realize.
PISCES (February 20 to March 20)—In work, play, all activities, your attitude, approach and continuation of action will be important to the whole picture. Don't waste time on unworkable projects.
YOU BORN TODAY are a combination of ambition, straightforward action, desire to achieve and fear that others do not approve of you. Also of other unwarranted doubting. Erase the faults and the picture is clear, bright, attractive. The Leoite can assist in remarkable fashion when he, she, wishes to. You should enjoy artistic things, outdoor life, travel, social events, Birth-date of: Louis XVI, King of France.

How to Keep Well

By Dr. T. R. Van Dellen

AIR COOLED COMFORT
Home air conditioning is the answer to warm weather. When properly adjusted the temperature is ideal for sleeping or concentration. The disposition is improved and there is less wear and tear on the heart. Invalids also appreciate air conditioning on scorching days.
Our heart works harder when the thermometer outdoors registers above 90 degrees. This may not be a chore for the individual with a normal heart but those with cardiac trouble may get into difficulty. Air cooling helps these individuals because it minimizes the work load on the old ticker for eight or more hours a day.

Changes during the summer are not well tolerated. The inside temperature, for example, should not be more than 5 degrees cooler than the outdoor reading. On the other hand, a difference of 10 or more degrees is comfortable when the occupant remains in the room for hours.
Humidity also plays a role. In hot weather most of us perspire profusely but when humidity is high, little sweat evaporates. This adds to the discomfort, unless there is a breeze.

When humidity is lowered artificially and the fan or air conditioner is turned on, evaporation of perspiration may be so great chilling occurs. In this respect, dry air has the same effect as cool air and on first entering the room the individual may not notice the difference.

TOMORROW: Salt Needs.
Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

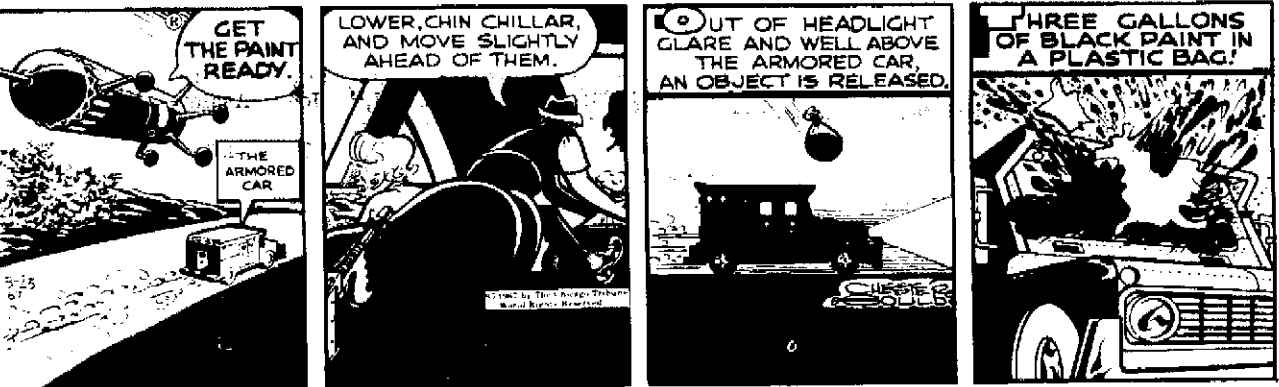

CONTRACTED FINGERS
H. L. writes: I've been a cashier for 10 years and noticed recently that the fingers of both hands tend to stay contracted. What could this be due to?

REPLY
I'm sure you are not trying to hang onto the money. Dupuytren's contracture is the most likely possibility. This condition results from the formation of scar tissue in the palm of the hand in the vicinity of the tendons leading to the fingers. It occurs to individuals in all walks of life and has nothing to do with your occupation.

STAIRS AND PREGNANCY
Mrs. H. writes: Is it dangerous for a woman in the sixth month of pregnancy to go up and down stairs several times a day?

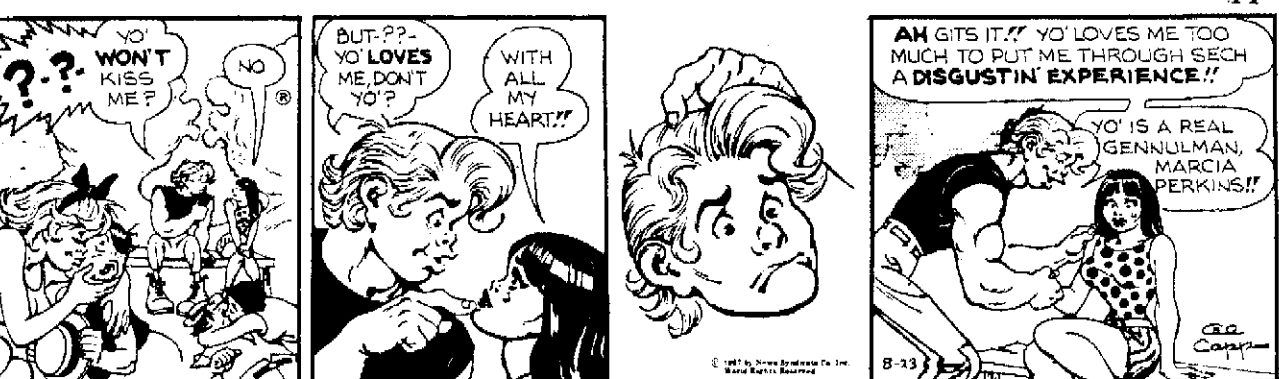

REPLY
No, provided the woman is in good health and the pregnancy is progressing normally.

IN SENECA DISTRICT

Libraries Offer More Service

Cardholders at the Warren Public Library and the seven other libraries in the Seneca District can now obtain more services than ever before.

Books and periodicals, long-playing records and 16 mm. films have been flowing across the circulation desk in ever-increasing numbers. The usual summer lag, when reader foregoes book for boat, has failed to materialize this year.

New services may be a contributing factor, Mrs. Georgia Coyle, library director, explained.

The Warren Public Library is the district center library for the Seneca District. There are thirty such centers throughout Pennsylvania, and every local library falls within the service area of one of these.

The district center may be visited by any cardholder of the libraries in the Seneca District, and the district center will permit use of materials within the building. As of now, free borrowing privileges have not been established at the district center, but the visitor may ask to have the materials sent to his local library, where they will be freely circulated.

Books patrons desire which are not in their local library's collection will be requested by telephone from the district center. In the case of specialized information which the district center may not have, the request will be forwarded to the State Library in Harrisburg which will continue the search until the material is found. It is then shipped to the local library for the patron's use. This service is free to all persons registered at any library in the Seneca District.

In explaining the role of the district center library, Mrs. Coyle said, "The district center is not a substitute for local library service. Materials considered basic to every library and currently popular books are to be provided locally. These will not be available from the district center because the center has its own immediate public to consider.

"However, this arrangement does give patrons of the libraries in the Seneca District the benefit of special materials they and other smaller libraries cannot afford. And it makes good financial sense to locate these seldom-used items in a place where they can be made available to a wider public."

Librarians from the Seneca District meet quarterly at the district center to discuss mutual problems, select materials and outline policies affecting all libraries in the district.

"We are trying to inform every citizen of his library rights and privileges under this program," Mrs. Coyle said. "This is a giant step in library service nationwide, and we are very excited to be a part of it."

3 Evening Courses to be Offered Here

Classes are the philosophic basis of education, which will meet Tuesday; reading disabilities, Wednesdays and adolescence to meet Thursday at Warren Area High School.

Running for 16 weeks and offering three hours credit, classes embrace either the college or graduate level.

To receive graduate credit a student should be enrolled in Penn State graduate school, either as a degree candidate or on a courtesy basis. Undergraduates should have previous credits in education.

Classes may also be taken for teacher certification.

Registration is scheduled for Monday and Tuesday, Sept. 11 and 12 from 7 to 9 p.m. at the high school. Classes get under way the week of Sept. 25.

Information is available from the Continuing Education at Penn State's Behrend Campus in Erie.

Most of the stars that can be easily seen on a clear night are brighter than the Sun. It is the tremendous distances of all the other stars that make them seem so faint.

sted. Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Whitton and sons, Daryl and James are in Montreal this week to attend Expo '67. James is here from Houston, Texas for a visit with his parents.

Kevin Weigel was dismissed from Warren General Hospital Saturday, where he had been a surgical patient.

Veal Potato Birds

Even the cleverest cook may be hard-pressed devising dishes to perk up heat-beaten appetites during these summer months. It's a time when the heartiest eaters in your family may need coaxing to sit down to a nourishing hot dinner. Yet, as a wise homemaker, you know how much your family needs well-balanced meals no matter what the temperature, weather or season. To help you create new appetite appeal and tempt those lagging appetites, we suggest savory Veal Potato Birds. The recipe is quick and easy. Just the thing to give the harried summer cook a chance to relax at the beach or on the patio. All it takes is one fresh carrot, a crisp green pepper, sliced onion and very thin-cut veal steaks. . . plus that all-important accompaniment, frozen French fried potatoes. And, incidentally, you'll probably want to stock up on those frozen potatoes because they're a big summer-time favorite with almost any meal. Youngsters especially go for them!

To make these Veal Potato Birds, slice the vegetable, roll them up snugly with the potatoes in a blanket of veal, and secure with string. Then brown and simmer. The French fries soon turn crisp and golden and the natural juices of the meat and vegetables mingle for a delightful taste treat. Equally good, and a snap to stir up, is the creamy gravy flavored with these juices.

To complete the dinner, we suggest a salad of chilled canned pears on a bed of lettuce with a dollop of mayonnaise for garnish.

Don't be surprised if this meal turns out to be the highlight of a long, hot day. In fact, you'll probably want to keep the recipe tucked in your file, ready to use another time the temperature soars. Remember your handy supply of frozen French fries, too.

VEAL POTATO BIRDS
1½ pounds veal steak, cut or pounded very thin
1 large carrot, cut into lengthwise strips
½ green pepper, cut into strips
1 medium onion, cut into thin wedges
1 package (1-pound) frozen French fried potatoes

Salt and pepper
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
½ cup water
2 tablespoons flour
1½ to 2 cups water

Cut veal into 6 pieces approximately 2½x4½ inches. Small pieces may be pounded together. Place assorted carrot and pepper strips, onion wedges and French fries atop each piece of meat; season with salt and pepper. Roll veal around vegetables and tie securely with string. In a skillet, brown on all sides in melted butter. Add ½ cup water; cover and simmer 1½ hours or until meat is tender, turning occasionally. Add water if necessary. Remove meat to a platter; blend flour into drippings; add water and cook, stirring constantly, until mixture boils and thickens. Serve gravy with meat. Makes 6 veal birds.

Place several sticks of blackboard chalk in the silver chest to prevent tarnish. And also place a piece of chalk in your jewelry box and it will help to keep jewelry from tarnishing.

When corned beef hash is on the late breakfast menu, delight family and guests with a new version, Pickle Spicy Beef Hash. Combine 1 can (15 1/2 ounces) corned beef hash, 2 tablespoons pickle relish, and 1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire. Brown hash in a skillet in 1 tablespoon shortening until crust forms on bottom. Makes 2 to 3 servings.

Neither clock-racing nor tight schedules will keep you from treating your family to Spaghetti Chicken Supper with this super-speedy version. In a saucepan, cook 1 medium onion, chopped, in 2 tablespoons butter or margarine until tender; add 1 can (5 ounces) boned chicken or turkey with broth, 1 can (15 ounces) spaghetti in tomato sauce with cheese, and a dash "Tabasco". Heat; stir now and then. Sprinkle with grated Parmesan cheese. Makes 4 servings.

A Favorite With Men

What is featured by many fine restaurants, enjoyed by both men and women, but seldom served at home? A French sauce made with truffles? No, it's a Caesar salad we have in mind.

There's nothing difficult or mysterious about a Caesar salad. And the only usual ingredients called for are anchovy fillets, which can be omitted without being missed in this recipe calling for stuffed olives. To make a Caesar salad, combine oil and garlic and let the mixture stand for about an hour. Brown the garlic in the oil and discard the garlic. Now brown bread cubes in the same oil so that they'll be flavored with the garlic. Drain them on paper towels.

Now for the secret of a Caesar salad—a fresh egg boiled for only one minute and cooled. Break the egg over salad greens, toss to coat the greens, add a dressing made from oil, lemon juice, bread cubes, cheese, and stuffed green olives cut in halves, and toss the mixture lightly.

If your husband is one of the many men who order Caesar salad in a restaurant, surprise him one night this week with one you've made yourself. It's a wonderful way to build a reputation as a gourmet cook.

CAESAR SALAD WITH OLIVES
1/2 cup salad oil
1 clove garlic, thinly sliced
2 cups 1/2-inch firm bread cubes
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1 egg
8 cups crisp torn salad greens (Romaine, Boston and head lettuce)
3/4 cup halved stuffed olives
1/4 cup shredded Parmesan cheese
6 to 8 anchovy fillets, optional

Combine salad oil and garlic; let stand about 1 hour. Heat 1/4 cup oil with garlic in skillet until garlic browns; remove garlic. Add bread cubes and brown well on all sides. Drain and cool. Combine remaining 1/4 cup oil, lemon juice, Worcestershire sauce, salt and pepper; mix. Cook egg 1 minute in boiling water. Cool. Break egg and add to salad greens; toss to coat greens well. Add oil mixture; toss. Add bread cubes, olives and cheese; toss lightly. Top with anchovy fillets, if desired. Serve immediately. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

SELDOM SERVED AT HOME

It's a favorite in restaurants, but seldom served at home. This delicious version of Caesar salad with olives is bound to be a husband-pleaser.

HOT DOGWOOD

Call it a Hot Dagwood, or a mild Reuben, or just plain Gobbler's Sandwich; it's great! It has turkey slices, coleslaw, tomato, American cheese and is topped with giblet gravy.

Dagwood Made Them Respectable

Years ago, many a loyal wife listed among the family secrets the fact that the man of the home ate perfectly disgraceful mid-night sandwiches made of everything he could find in the ice-box. Then Dagwood Bumstead let the skeleton out of the closet. He was probably looking for more sandwich fixin's, but in the process the stigma was removed. Submarines, Poor Boys and Hoboes were subsequent popular productions that have had long runs. Then, a famous restaurant named Reuben's won a prize with a hot corned beef, sauerkraut and Swiss cheese combination on rye. This last, we must warn you, is definitely habit forming and has made many addicts. Now there is a new sandwich that will probably be even more popular because it is made of less expensive and more available ingredients.

The Gobbler's Sandwich is made of turkey slices, coleslaw (yes, that is right), tomato and American cheese. After heating for 5 minutes, serve it with gravy. There is a classical Mexican recipe called "A Tablecloth Stainer." The only thing that will keep Gobbler's Sandwich from that title is that placemats will probably be used when it is served. We almost forgot to tell you (you have probably guessed it by now anyway), the turkey slices are the two pound kind that come in the foil pan with giblet gravy.

GOBBLER'S SANDWICH
1 package (2 pound) frozen Giblet Gravy and Sliced Turkey
3 hamburger buns, sliced in half

1 cup (15 ounce container) prepared coleslaw
6 tomato slices (1/2 inch thick)
6 slices American cheese
Heat oven to slow (325 degrees). Prepare slices according to directions. Remove slices from gravy. Place buns on cookie sheet. Put on each, 2 turkey slices, 2 1/2 tablespoons coleslaw and a slice of tomato. Bake 5 minutes. Place slice of cheese on each sandwich. Bake another 5 minutes or until cheese melts. Heat gravy. Serve sandwich with gravy. Yield: 6 sandwiches.

Pamper Your Guests

Absolutely tops in guest appeal for summer entertaining is this new and colorful Shrimp Canton. An appetizing, meal-in-one dish, it really spells out hospitality de luxe with that oriental accent that so many folks enjoy in party foods.

Soy sauce and ginger add the zesty flavor accents to this dandy combination of shrimp, green peppers, mushrooms and cherry tomatoes that is both hearty and healthful. What is more... it's wonderfully easy and speedy for the hostess to prepare as are so many seafood dishes. The recipe lends itself beautifully to doubling or tripling; so extra unexpected guests don't have to be a problem at all as long as you have an ample supply of the simple-to-combine ingredients on hand.

Outdoor-inspired appetites will be well-satisfied with Shrimp Canton on the party menu, and yet the waistline-watchers in the crowd won't have to worry because the dish is relatively low in calories. Shrimp, in fact, is a great dieters' favorite when it comes to low-calorie entrees. While it helps you stay slim, it also provides proteins and minerals, plus vitamins A, B and D—another good reason for serving it often!

Partner the Shrimp Canton with crisp sesame seed crackers and a relish platter of radishes, sour pickles, hard-cooked egg halves and sliced cucumbers. Serve tall, frosty glasses of iced mint tea; or, if the weather's not too warm, some of the guests may prefer their tea hot as traditional for Cantonese-type dining. Dessert can be pretty parfaits of sherbet layered with a melange of fresh fruits cut into bite-sized pieces. This is a great way to pamper guys and gals who come to dinner. Try it soon and see.

SHRIMP CANTON
1 pound cleaned and deveined frozen shrimp, defrosted
1/4 cup soy sauce
1/4 cup water
2 teaspoons sugar
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 teaspoon ground ginger

1 large green pepper, cut into 1-inch squares
1/4 pound large mushrooms, sliced
18 to 20 cherry tomatoes
Hot cooked long-grain rice.
Drain and dry shrimp well on paper towels. Marinate for 1/2 hour in a mixture of soy sauce, water and sugar. Melt butter or margarine in a large frypan; stir in ginger. Add green peppers and cook about 3 minutes. Add mushrooms and shrimp mixture; bring to a slow boil and cook about 8 minutes. Add tomatoes and cook 3 minutes longer. Serve over rice. Makes 4 to 5 servings.

BLACK BEANS WITH RICE
1 bag (1 pound) black turtle beans
1/2 cup olive oil
3/4 cup finely chopped onion
1 cup finely chopped green pepper
3 large garlic cloves, crushed
Salt (about 1 tablespoon)
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 bay leaf, finely crushed
1 teaspoon crushed dry oregano
2 tablespoons red wine vinegar

Rinse and pick over beans; turn into a large pot with 1 quart cold water; bring to boil; boil for 2 minutes. Let stand, covered and off heat, for 1 hour. Drain; add 1 quart fresh cold water and simmer until beans are tender but still hold their shape—about 1 1/2 hours. In a medium skillet in the hot oil, gently cook the onion, green pepper and garlic until onion is golden; add to beans and their small amount of liquid. Mix in the remaining ingredients. Tightly cover and refrigerate overnight to develop flavors. Reheat gently. Serve over rice and top with minced sweet onion. Makes 6 to 7 servings.

YOUNGVILLE, PA.

Ludlow Area News

By MRS. HILDUR WENSTRAN
Kathy Marie Drogowski, 11-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Drogowski of 178 Sheldon ave., Pittsburgh, died unexpectedly early Monday morning while en route to Kane Community Hospital from their summer home at Ludlow.

Kathy was known to have a heart condition but had apparently been in her usual health until a short time before the fatal attack early that day.

Kathy Marie, daughter of Stanley J. and Edna Drogowski, was born Nov. 30, 1955, at Pittsburgh. She attended the Pathfinder School at Pittsburgh.

She is survived by her parents and by her maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jaap of Pittsburgh.

The Hill-Kelley Funeral Home was in charge of local arrangements until taken to Pettit Funeral Home, Greentree rd., Pittsburgh, where funeral services were held Thursday morning. Interment was in Jefferson Memorial Park. Attending the funeral from Ludlow were Mrs. Erland Olson, Miss Carol Ann Olson and Mrs. Florence Anderson.

The LCW of Moriah Church met Thursday evening in the church. The meeting was held by candle-light due to the power blackout which lasted four hours. Mrs. Helen Olson conducted a short business meeting. Several hymns were sung and the reading of the Lord's Prayer and the Doxology made the program. The film, "The Life of Paul," could not be shown. Candles and a beautiful centerpiece of flowers decorated the table. Hostesses were Mrs. Kermit Johnson and Mrs. Florence Anderson.

The Swanson reunion was held last Saturday at the De Forest Pavilion with 70 members present. Gary Swanson of Warren, president, conducted the meeting at which time officers were elected for the coming year. They are: president, Ernest W. Swanson of Ludlow; vice president, Gary Swanson of Warren; secretary, Mrs. Paul Swanson; and for treasurer, Miss Kathryn Peterson, both of Warren. Among the guests were Dr. and Mrs. Russell Moseley and family of Butler, Pa., and the Rev. and Mrs. Ernest Peterson of Ashtabula, Ohio. Others came from Florida, Wyoming, Jamestown and Buffalo, N. Y., Bradford, Warren, Barnes and Ludlow. Next year they will again meet at Wildcat Park.

Mrs. Algot Swanson and Mrs. Ernest W. Swanson had charge of the food arrangements. The Rev. Ernest Peterson gave the table prayer.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Nelson on Saturday were Mr. and Mrs. Ed Riemer and children, Larry and Mary, from Orland, California; Mr. and Mrs. William Anderson of Ithaca, N. Y.; and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Nelson and family from Sheffield.

The Fritburg reunion was held Sunday the 13th of August at Wildcat Park with 23 present from Falconer, N. Y., Hempstead, Long Island, Kane, Sheffield and Ludlow.

Mr. Alf V. Benson of Kane, conducted services at Moriah Lutheran Church Sunday morning. During the services the Sunday School children of the 1-2 and 3rd grade classes sang several numbers, accompanied by the pianist, Mrs. Hilma Hanson. Flowers on the altar were in memory of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Peterson by their daughters, Mrs. Gertrude Johnson, Victoria and Mabel Peterson.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Swanson and grandson Bobbie visited the David Swanson family who were on a camping trip to Tionesta last Thursday. The children enjoyed boating, swimming and fishing.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Christenson left Sunday for Pittsburgh where Mrs. Christenson will have a "check up" on her eye surgery at Mercy Hospital in Pittsburgh.

Mrs. Alma Carlson returned home Thursday evening after a three weeks' vacation. She spent one week in Pittsburgh with Mr.

and Mrs. Loyal Elder and then to Lexington, Ky., for two weeks with Mr. and Mrs. Norman Nickolay, returning to Pittsburgh by plane.

Erland Olson was taken ill while at a local grocery store Thursday afternoon. He was rushed to the Kane Community Hospital where he is under observation.

A Sheffield fire truck and a car driven by James Whitton, 28, of Houston, Tex., collided near Lumberlost Thursday evening. The Whitton car bounced into a Penelec utility pole, snapping it off. This caused a power blackout in Ludlow and Kiasutha for four hours. Due to the accident while still daylight, caused a delay in repairs as some people didn't know they were without lights.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Johnson of Hackettstown, N. J., who are visiting in this area, were Saturday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Johnson.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Larson from Milwaukee, Wisc., have been visitors at the home of his sister, Miss Edith Larson, this past week.

Mr. and Mrs. William Hanson and Mrs. Evelyn Anderson spent Sunday the 13th at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gustav Hogman in Jamestown, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Nelson and family spent last weekend in Barborton, Ohio, visiting relatives.

Those Strawberry Cream Puffs are Perfect

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor
Start with the best butter and bubbling hot water. Add fine white flour and a carefree pinch of salt. Beat in the freshest of eggs.
Drop the batter—glossy, velvet-smooth and buttercup-yellow—onto a cookie sheet. Bake in a hot oven until the puffs rise to glorious heights and shine like gold.

Fill the just-cool puffs with huge swirls of whipped cream and spoon over them the sweet goodness of fresh strawberries.
There, then, you have Strawberry Cream Puffs at their best. That's exactly how my sister Phyllis—the best creampuff maker we know—concocts this delectable dessert, and here's her recipe.

BEST STRAWBERRY CREAM
PUFFS
1/4 cup (1/2 stick) butter
1/2 cup boiling water
1/2 cup sifted regular flour
Pinch of salt
2 large eggs
Strawberries and Cream (see recipe)
Butter a small cookie sheet (14 by 9 or 10 inches). Cut the batter into small pieces and turn into a 1 or 1 1/2 quart saucepan. Add the boiling water; stir over moderate heat to melt butter and bring mixture to the boiling point—several large bubbles should break at the surface. Add the flour all at once and the salt;

keep over low heat and with a wooden spoon beat vigorously until mixture is thick and smooth and comes away from the sides of the pan. Remove from heat. With the spoon, thoroughly beat in one egg, then the other; don't worry because mixture seems to separate;

keep beating until it is homogeneous, smooth and glossy and thick enough to be dropped. Drop the mixture in 6 mounds, spaced well apart, onto the prepared cookie sheet. Bake in a preheated very hot (450 degrees) oven for 10 minutes; reduce heat to hot (400 degrees) and continue baking until puffs are firm and shiny golden brown on top, and no beads of moisture show on surface—about 25 minutes. With a wide spatula, remove to wire rack to cool.

Cut each cream puff in half crosswise; fill and top as directed in Strawberries and Cream recipe. Makes 6 servings.
+
STRAWBERRIES AND CREAM (FOR CREAM PUFFS)
1 pint box strawberries

1/4 cup superfine granulated sugar
1/2 pint heavy cream
1 3 cup confectioners sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
About an hour before serving the cream puffs, rinse strawberries with cold water; hull; halve. Gently mix with superfine sugar; let stand at room temperature. Just before serving cream puffs, whip cream gradually adding con-fectioners sugar and vanilla toward end of beating. With a perforated spoon lift out about half the strawberries and fold into the cream. Fill bottom half of cream puffs with mixture and replace tops; spoon remaining berries over top of puffs; serve at once.

+
Ironing over double thickness-es, such as seams, collars, cuffs, and hems, will often cause an unsightly shine. To eliminate this shine, press over two layers of cheesecloth or wax paper.
